D'ANNUNZIO IS BACK AT FIUME

Leaves Body of Troops at Zara to Hold Possession

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Advices to the State Department today stated that Captain d'Annunzio, after his occupation of Zara on the Dalmatian coast, returned to Fiume yesterday and was accorded a great demonstration. He is said to have declared his purpose to occupy other territory, including part of Istria, which he asserted should form an independent state to relieve Italy of responsibility to the Allies.

After taking possession of Zara, d'Annunzio left there an officer of his staff, with shock troops and carbineers.

BELGRADE, Saturday, Nov. 15.—An unconfirmed report from Spalato says troops of d'Annunzio's command have occupied Zara.

Vice-Admiral Millo, in command at Zara, declared himself powerless to prevent occupation of the city.

ROME, Nov. 16.—(Havas).—Captain Gabriele D'Annunzio has returned to Fiume after an expedition to Zara on the Dalmatian coast, whither he was escorted by nine battleships, according to reports received here.

FIUME, Saturday, Nov. 15.—(By The Associated Press.)—The expedition of Captain Gabriele D'Annunzio is proceeding along the Dalmatian coast, but it is not expected that it will go farther than Spalato. The expedition has been augmented by several warships, recently of the Ancona fleet.

Lack of communications and the censorship makes it difficult to obtain details.

At Trieste enthusiasm over the new exploit was not pronounced.

LACK OF SUGAR RAISING PRICES

Woman An Undesirable; Claim to Citizenship False

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—Exhaustion of the Hawaiian cane sugar crop has made central and northern California, Oregon, Washington, northern Idaho and Nevada consumers entirely dependent upon the remaining beet sugar crop, the Pacific coast officers of the sugar equalization board stated tonight in an announcement that a price of 10 cents a pound for beet sugar at the factory would be effective tomorrow.

The new beet sugar price is an advance of one cent over that which the refiners sold cane sugar, and makes possible a retail figure of 12 cents, as wholesalers are allowed a profit of half a cent a pound and retailers may charge one and a half cents additional.

There has been no known hoarding on the part of the refiners, jobbers or retailers, the equalization board declared, the abnormal consumption on the part of the public being solely accountable for the exhaustion of sugar stocks.

The board announced it was notifying the "fair price committees" of the Washington and Oregon and also the department of justice, which had authorized the advance, that refiners purchasing beet sugar at the new price would be permitted to add one cent to the present rate charged their customers. No retailers or jobbers would be permitted to raise the price of their present stock, it was declared, while any advance in the price of cane sugar would be prosecuted by the department of justice.

Thirty six million pounds of sugar, or seven pounds for every person in northern California, Nevada, Oregon and Washington was distributed to the people of that territory in a period of thirty days ending yesterday, through a cooperative agreement with the various refineries, it was stated, the figure being three times the per capita allotment made to the people of the United States during the war. This allotment excluded sales to manufacture.

The board asserted it had saved $10,000,000 to ten housewives of the Pacific coast in the last three weeks by permitting only low priced beet sugar and cane sugar to be sold in bulk.

EX-KING IN ITALY

MILAN, Nov. 16.—Ludwig III, former king of Bavaria, has arrived at Lodarno to spend the winter.

POSSE SURROUNDS FIVE MEN; CHARGED AS IOWA OUTLAWS

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 16.—Citizens of Sosalie, Neb., about 70 miles north of Omaha, have five men surrounded in a restaurant there, who they think are the men who shot their way out of the Plymouth county, Iowa, jail at Lemars, Friday night. They are awaiting the arrival of officers from Pender, the county seat, ten miles northwest. One member of the posse that has the suspects surrounded admitted that there was no proof the men are the ones wanted but declared they resemble photographs of the men published in the newspapers.

MARY PICKFORD'S PET AIREDALE IS LOST IN FIRE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16.—Fire here early today destroyed three buildings at the Robert Brunton motion picture studio, causing loss estimated at $20,000.

"Scottie," Mary Pickford's pet Airedale dog, who appears prominently in one of her late productions, met death when the flames swept from the "plaster" house to the scenery dock and barn. Other valuable animals also were burned to death. The origin of the fire tonight had not been determined.

WILSON CONFERS WITH HITCHCOCK

Fate of Treaty and Plans of Adjournment Discussed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—A conference tomorrow between President Wilson and Senator Hitchcock, administration leader on the senate contest over the peace treaty, was expected tonight to determine largely the fate of the treaty and plans for adjournment of the special session of congress.

Senator Hitchcock will see the president before the senate reconvenes to take up the final reservations to the treaty and expects to obtain from him a final word on the form of reservations he will accept.

Definite outcome of the treaty controversy this week—either by a deadlock or reserved ratification—and adjournment of the special session of congress tonight seemed assured.

With the cloture rule in effect, the senate tomorrow will take up the two remaining committee reservations, and after disposal of dozens of individual reservations, reach the last stage of ratification reservations.

With final action on the treaty, adjournment sine die of the session which began May 19 is planned before the new and long session begins two weeks from tomorrow.

What the House will do while the Senate is in the last stage of the treaty fight had not been determined today.

Railroad Bill Today

The railroad bill will be taken up again tomorrow and probably passed by tomorrow night or Tuesday. Not much will be done after that.

Senator Hitchcock said tonight that he would submit the majority reservations as adopted and those still before the Senate, together with the minority substitutes, to President Wilson "for his final judgment."

Leaders of both parties predicted that the President would not accept the reservation program adopted by the Senate. The minority managers said they were proceeding with plans to override Vice-President Marshall's proposed ruling that the treaty could not live or die by a vote in resolution containing reservations adopted by the majority. The program of the majority contemplates that final rejection of the Lodge resolution, upon reconsideration will a second vote, shall be ruled as decisive ratification or defeat. The first reservation to come up tomorrow is designed to modify the treaty provisions by which Germany renounces in favor of the big five powers her title to her overseas possessions, of which final disposition is to be made afterward under the mandatory system. The reservation declares the United States declines to accept as trustee or in its own right assume any responsibility over such countries.

For this reservation the Republican leader declared they are assured of a majority, but they are not so certain about the other and final measure of the committee program. It is a blanket reservation by which this country would decline to submit to the League's decision any question it considered to involve vital national rights and interests.

In a statement tonight the executive committe of the League to Enforce Peace declared that if such a reservation were adopted, it would be "the clear duty of every senator who sincerely believes in a League of Nations to vote against ratification."

Miners Buried When Cave-in Takes Place

WALLACE, Idaho, Nov. 16.—Two miners, F. P. Grant and Emil Sayko, were either buried or imprisoned in a cave-in which occurred in the Hunter mine at Mullan, about seven miles north of this city yesterday, according to information reaching here today.

Rescue parties, working in six-hour shifts, have been digging upward from the level below in an effort to reach the men. Whether they are alive is unknown.

WANTS CHANCE TO SEND REDS BACK TO RUSSIA

Soviet Agent Declares Men Anxious to Leave America

STATEMENT TO LANSING

Protests Against Treatment of Lenine Sympathizers

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, self-styled ambassador of the Russian soviet government to the United States," has offered to provide transportation from the United States to Russia for all Russian citizens who desire to leave America, or whose presence in the United States is undesirable to the federal government. The offer was made in a letter to Secretary of State Lansing, made public tonight.

In his letter, Martens protested against "unwarranted and cruel treatment" to which many Russian citizens in the United States are subjected by federal and state officers, as well as by mobs."

He proposed that the soviet government be permitted to return the citizens to soviet Russia and declared he had received thousands of applications from such citizens anxious to return to their homes.

Martens was arrested for contempt Saturday and released on $1,000 bail after he had refused to appear with certain documents before the Lusk legislative committee, investigating radical activities in New York. He based his refusal on the ground that all communications passing between himself and his government were privileged. When brought before the committee in custody yesterday, Martens promised to appear Monday and to bring his papers.

Opposes Deportations.

Calling attention to press reports that it is proposed to deport certain Russians to parts of Russia under control of the enemies of the soviet government, Martens, in his letter, protests such deportations would mean certain death for the persons deported and would constitute "a flagrant breach of international law."

"It is quite unnecessary," he says, "for the government of the United States to take the trouble of deporting citizens of the Russian socialist federal soviet republic. They are only too anxious to leave. I therefore respectfully suggest that the United States government could easily be rid of the presence of unwelcome Russian citizens, if those citizens of Russia, whose lives are becoming unbearable in the United States were permitted to leave. I desire to assure you that the government I have the honor to represent is ready and willing to provide means of transportation from the United States to soviet Russia for every Russian citizen in this country who desires to leave or whose presence in the country is undesirable to the government of the United States.

Seattle Syndicalist Paper Reappears

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 16.—Copies of a paper bearing the name The Seattle Union Record, made their appearance on the streets here today. Last week the plant of the Seattle Union Record, a daily newspaper owned mainly by the Seattle Central Labor Council, was seized and a federal warrant and its editor, E. B. Ault, and two members of its board of directors arrested and charged with violating the espionage act. It was charged the paper abandoned the Armistice Day shooting at Centralia.

In the paper appearing today was a statement the government had not ordered suspension of the Record but had only decreed that it should not be issued from its own plant. The new "Record" is being printed at various job shops throughout the city. Ault's name does not appear at the top of the editorial column of the new paper. One of the writers on the old Record is supplying some material for the new paper.

Socialists Gain in Belgian Election

BRUSSELS, Nov. 16.—(Havas).—The latest reports are to the effect that the Catholics have lost about fifteen seats and the Liberals seven seats to the Socialists in the general election.

Woman Struck by Duck Hunter's Bullet

Mrs. Noble, 28 years old, a housewife, had a narrow escape yesterday morning at North avenue, when she was struck in the face by a spent bullet fired by some of the numerous duck hunters who were everywhere scattered through the woods yesterday. Mrs. Noble was taken to the emergency hospital where she was attended by Dr. F. K. Pomeroy, after which she left for her home.

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 15.—The Argentine government has recognized the republic of Austria as a free and independent state.

YUDENITCH IN FLIGHT FROM TROTZKY'S ARMY

HELSINGFORS, Nov. 14. — (By the Associated Press.)—General Yudenitch, commander of the northwestern Russian army, is retreating hurriedly from Yamburg in the direction of Narva, on the Gulf of Finland, according to latest advices. Some of his troops have been defeated in the Esthonian district.

The Esthonian authorities announce their intention of disarming the Yudenitch forces. There is a rumor that Yudenitch has resigned his command, but this is not confirmed.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—General Yudenitch has resigned the command of the Russia northwestern army, according to a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Helsingfors. General Laidoner, commander in chief of the Esthonian army, has succeeded him. It is said that the change was made to avoid internment of Yudenitch's army on entering Esthonia.

PORTLAND LABOR ORGAN CONDEMNS I. W. W. ACTIVITY

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 16.—Unrestrained condemnation of the I. W. W. for their alleged responsibility for the Centralia outrage Armistice Day is voiced by the Labor Press, organ of the Portland Central Labor Council, in a first-page editorial in its edition issued yesterday.

The organ of Portland labor blames the I. W. W. solely. In part the editorial says:

"The dastardly crime in Centralia Armistice Day was carried out in true I. W. W. style—from ambush. The organized labor movement of the country and especially of the Northwest will now be flooded with appeals for aid to get 'thefellow workers' out of jail.

"The I. W. W. is a rebellious, riotous organization, its awful impelling forces being love of strife and greed for money."

I. W. W. TRIALS OPEN TODAY IN OAKLAND

Sid Shannon and George Hudson Leave to Aid in Prosecution

Each of Twenty I. W. W. Defendants Given Separate Trial

Deputy United States Marshal Sid Shannon and Department of Justice Agent George Hudson will this week attend the trial of the twenty Industrial Workers of the World whose case opens today in the Oakland Superior Court under the California Syndicalist Law, which makes it a felony to create any kind of industrial unrest by any means whatsoever.

On the outcome of this trial will depend the cases of twelve members of the I. W. W. indicted in Stockton, sixteen in Los Angeles and twelve in San Francisco. If the defendants in the Oakland court are found guilty, it is probable that I. W. W. defendants in other towns and cities of the state will share the same fate. Each of the Oakland defendants will be given a separate trial.

George Hudson said yesterday that it took ten days to find a jury of twelve men in the Oakland case to try James Hugo, secretary of the Alameda local organization, who was arrested last July under the state syndicalist law. The trial will be attended by Bill Haywood father of the I. W. W. organization who will testify for the defendants and explain what the I. W. W. stands for and what it aims to accomplish. Ralph Chaplin and Vincent St. John national leaders, Mr. Hudson said yesterday, will also be present to testify for the defendants.

The prosecution is being assisted by the agents of the Department of Justice who are working overtime to secure the convictions of the defendants. All other cases throughout the state, Los Angeles, Stockton and other cities have set their I. W. W. cases for trial after the first of January 1920, and will watch closely the Oakland trials.

Attorney Clagary, of San Francisco already famous for his defense of I. W. W. defendants will defend the Alameda men.

James McHugo was formerly secretary of the San Francisco local and moved to Oakland. Sid Shannon left Saturday for Oakland.

Troops to Leave W. V. Coal Region

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 16.—Federal troops doing strike duty in the coal mining fields will be withdrawn from West Virginia Tuesday, it is learned from an authentic source tonight.

No information regarding the withdrawal could be obtained at military headquarters here. Soldiers on duty at Beckley, Clothier and in the Coal River districts were reported preparing to withdrawal to Charleston tomorrow night.

The troops are expected to entrain for Camp Taylor, Ky.

NEGRO LYNCHED; ROBBED AND BEAT UP FARMER

Missouri Posse Searching for Three Blacks Who Escaped

CHARGED WITH BEING I. W. W.

Prisoner Taken From Sheriff and Shot After Avoiding Hanging

MOBERLY, Mo., Nov. 16.—A negro, one of four said to have beaten and robbed Edward Thompson, a farmer here Thursday night, was lynched here today by a mob of masked men. The negro's three companions, who had been brought here from the jail at Mabon early today, escaped, but later it was reported two had been captured and incarcerated at a point unknown to the mob.

Feeling against the negroes is running high and it was reported farmers have gone to adjacent counties in search of the re-captured blacks. Local authorities said the negroes admitted they were I. W. W.'s.

Fearing mob violence, Sheriff Owens last night took the quartet to Macon county, leaving of this, a mob motored there and demanded that Sheriff Jesse Stamper turn over the negroes to them. The sheriff pleaded with the men, but the jail keys were taken forcibly from him and the blacks were returned here just before daybreak, clad only in their night clothes.

A large fire had been built in a public park, and on seeing this the negroes set up howls.

A rope was placed over the head of one and swung over a limb of a tree. The mob pulled and the limb broke. The negro started running as he fell. Four guns flashed and he was killed instantly.

At the sound of the shots, the other three ran.

The negroes are alleged to have beaten Thompson into unconsciousness and robbed him of $12 on the outskirts of Moberly.

FRESNO K. OF C. ATTEND SERVICE

March to St. John's Hall, Communion Is Dispensed

Marching in solemn procession from St. John's hall, the Fresno Knights of Columbus attended the 8 o'clock mass at St. John's Catholic church yesterday morning, where holy communion was dispensed to them in a body.

The marchers entered the church to the strians of "Onward, Christian Soldiers." The detachment, about 100 strong, entered the specially reserved seats.

Father L. J. Foin, reverend chaplain of the order, conducted the service. He told the knights of the importance of receiving holy communion frequently as a means of strengthening character and receiving sanctifying grace. The entire service was in the nature of a memorial for the departed members of the order.

Following the service, the knights marched back to St. John's hall, where an elaborate breakfast was served.

VISALIA RANCHER IS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

(Special to The Republican.)

VISALIA, Nov. 16.—Horner Barnard, aged 35 years, a well known rancher of the Orosi district, was accidentally killed late this afternoon while out quail hunting with his father and two brothers. Mr. Barnard was carrying a twelve gauge shotgun, which exploded when he hit the butt-end against a cayote that he had wounded. The shot penetrated his body just above the stomach, killing him instantly. The remains were brought to Visalia by Coroner Hadley.

Mr. Barnard is survived by his widow, several small children and his father and mother.

AMERICAN CHARGED WITH CONNIVING AT HIS OWN CAPTURE

"Part of Government Conspiracy to Escape Repaying Ransom," Writes to Father

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 16.—(By The Associated Press.) William O. Jenkins, United States consular agent at Puebla, was placed under arrest Saturday and held under surveillance in his home following charges by officials at Puebla that Jenkins was not abducted by Federico Cordova, a bandit leader, but was in connivance with him, according to information received here last night.

The arrest of Jenkins came after twelve persons had sworn to statements before a judge in Puebla, declaring that Jenkins had been in company with Cordova, who accomplished his recent abduction from Puebla, under no restraint and in apparent understanding with his alleged captors.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—No word had reached the State Department through official sources tonight concerning the reported arrest of Consular Agent Jenkins at Puebla on charges of having connived with the bandit who abducted him. Officials said a report probably would arrive early tomorrow.

The charges against Jenkins were characterized as "absurd" in view of the recent investigation by a judge who declared the agent was not involved in any plot. The offhand opinion was that "it was a measure of retaliation" following late disclosures connecting some Mexican authorities with radical propaganda and in which the name of the Mexican consul-general in New York was mentioned.

Cleared by Judge

Advices from Mexico City November 7 said Consular Agent Jenkins had been cleared of all suspicion of complicity in his kidnaping by Mexican bandits October 17. The judge investigating the abduction, the dispatches added, took occasion to praise Jenkins as a friend of the Mexican people and a respected member of the community in which he lived.

Jenkins was held for $150,000 ransom and the United States government, demanding his release, sent what was said to have been the strongest note ever dispatched in a dispute between the two republics. Jenkins was released October 28, after his personal attorney, Senor Mestre, had paid the ransom to the bandit leader.

An official statement issued in Washington on the abduction of Jenkins, said he would have to effect his own reimbursement of the money paid to the Mexicans who kidnaped him unless he could prove that the Mexican government was negligent in affording him protection. This standing as an official of the United States government had no bearing on the matter, it was stated.

Letter From Son

John W. Jenkins, father of William O. Jenkins, who lives near Hanford, stated last night to the Republican that he had received no word of the arrest of his son. He said that the last letter he had received from him was dated November 2, and arrived on Friday last. In it Jenkins stated that he was still at Puebla, and was suffering from rheumatism caused by the exposure while sleeping on the ground in rainy weather from October 19 to October 26. The father declares that his son has furnished most of the money for his ransom himself, the remainder being made up by some friends.

MEXICAN CONSUL DENIES CHARGES

Says That County Not Connected With Radical Groups Here

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Denial that Mexico is connected in any way with radical groups in this country was made tonight in a statement by Ramon P. de Negri, consul-general of Mexico here. Attention of the State Department recently was called to a letter from Consul de Negri to Flavia Borquez, a Mexican senator endorsing the principle of "nationalization."

"I am surprised," the statement said in part, "that my letter has been abused, tending to represent me and the authorities of the republic of Mexico in a false light, and which may be availed of by the enemies of my country and the various agitators and which is now engaged in a conspiracy against Mexico, to show us in league or collusion with the radical movement hostile to the principles upon which the government and the political structure of this country are founded. Nothing can be further from the truth and our aims.

"So far as my correspondence is concerned, the federal agents did not reveal any 'underground' work, as the letter referred to was read in a public session of the Mexican senate and was published in all Mexico City newspapers on Nov. 6.

"Anybody who perused my letter honestly and honestly interprets its, its word and spirit, will have to say that there is nothing in it tending to prove that I am in any way interested in radical movements in this country, although I am deeply concerned with the Mexican social revolution and, as an officiat of the constitutional government I am in duty bound to follow its accomplishments and developments.

"Let me say once of all that Mexico is not conducting any propaganda in the United States, nor has any sum whatever been appropriated for such a purpose and it is not in any way connected with the I. W. W., Bolsheviks or any other radical group or ism of any other country of the world.

"I am a sincere friend of the people and the government of the United States. I have given the best years of my life to bring about a better understanding, closer relations, commercial intercourse and loyal and everlasting amity between the two countries."

Denies Kolchak Has Abandoned Capital

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 16.—Report of the evacuation of Omsk by Admiral Kolchak is denied by General Woelkoff, according to the Tidende's Helsingfors correspondent. Admiral Kolchak, it is added, has just established connections with the Cossacks advancing from Turkestan.

A Moscow communication Saturday stated that Omsk had been occupied by the Bolsheviki and that Kolchak's forces were retreating eastward.

PALMER REVIEWS EMMA GOLDMAN

Pacific Coast Largely Dependent on Beet Sugar Output

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Replying to a senate inquiry regarding what had been done toward deporting Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman, Attorney-General Palmer declared tonight the woman's claim to American citizenship was "fallacious" and that Berkman by his own admission, was an anarchist.

The Goldman case is under consideration by immigration authorities at New York and the Attorney-General's statement was taken to mean the government soon would attempt to return her to Russia, where she was born.

Discussing Miss Goldman's claim to citizenship, Mr. Palmer said she was 24 years old when her father was naturalized and that her age barred her from inheriting naturalization rights. The fact her husband obtained his citizenship through fraud, Mr. Palmer added, cancelled any claim she might have established through that source.

The ramifications to which the plots and plans of thegroup of anarchists headed by Emma Goldman have extended, were reviewed by the attorney-general. Declaring both Mathew Schmidt and David Caplan, who are serving prison sentences for complicity in destruction of the Los Angeles Times building, were members of the Goldman clan, he showed also that she advocated the violence and had incited riots as early as 1895, when she was sentenced to serve one year on Blackwell's Island after indictment on these charges.

Mr. Palmer included in the statement a transcript of the confession of Czolgosz, who shot President McKinley, in which he told of the influence Emma Goldman's teachings had exercised on his life. Investigation by government agents proved he had not only heard her speak but frequently consulted with her as to methods to be employed in effecting thedestruction of thegovernment. The connection of both Berkman and Emma Goldman with the Bolshevist movement, was emphasized by Mr. Palmer. The activities of the union of Russian workers, said to be one of the most dangerous organizations in America, and against which the government has directed a vigorous campaign, has been traced directly to the Goldman-Berkman propaganda headquarters, he said.

Asks Recount of Wet-Dry Vote, Ohio

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. The Anti-Saloon League of America has asked for a recount of the vote in Ohio on the question of ratifying the constitutional prohibition amendment "because of the many errors already reported" Wayne B. Wheeler, attorney for the organization announced tonight.

FARMER KILLED IN BATTLE AGAINST I. W. W.

Body Lies Under Guns of Beleaguered Reds

IS FIRED ON FROM AMBUSH

New Posse of Loggers and Former Soldiers Sent to Hannaford

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 16.—Telephone messages from Centralia here tonight said woodsmen and former soldiers left today to capture, if possible, alleged I. W. W.'s report holding out in a cabin at the head of the Hannaford valley, about eighteen miles from Centralia. Little was made public today regarding a reported battle yesterday between two posses and alleged I. W. W. near the cabin. Reports said one posse member, believed to be John Haney, a rancher of Tenino, Wash., aged 49, fell in the battle. Today it was stated Haney was dead and his body lying near the cabin with the radicals inside repelling all attempts of the former soldiers to reach it.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Nov. 16.—That John Haney of Tenino, who formerly lived at McMinnville, Ore., was slain in the skirmish fought yesterday between I. W. W. suspects and possemen near Hannaford Creek, eighteen miles from here, has been established almost beyond a doubt, according to accounts of the battle given today by men who participated.

A posse of loggers and former soldiers left here this morning for Hannaford valley, eighteen miles northeast of Centralia to renew search for a number of Industrial Workers of the World believed to have participated in the shooting of members of the American Legion during the Armistice Day parade last Tuesday.

Bert Bland believed by the authorities here to be the man who shot and killed Warren O. Grimm, commander of the local American Legion post, Armistice Day, and a man named Hansen, also suspected of complicity in the shooting, are reported to be among the radicals hidden in the Hannaford valley.

Hanson was named in an alleged confession of L. Roberts, an I. W. W., as being among the group of radicals that fired on the Centralia paraders.

Try to Get Body.

A posse of forty men, American Legion veterans and volunteer woodsmen today secured the country in the neighborhood of yesterday's fight. A special detail of men was charged with recovery of Haney's body.

Members of yesterday's posse said it was probable recovery of Haney's body would be attended by further bloodshed, because that he fell within 100 yards of Hunter's cabin, wherein the I. W. W. were believed still to be lurking. The place is surrounded by dense woods.

Every outlet was guarded. Captain Lloyd Dysart, commander of the posse, directed today's operations.

"We have verified the fact that Haney fell when fired upon from ambush," said Dysart. "A comrade saw him drop at the first volley.

"Haney with three other men, had become separated from the main party and were working their way toward Hunter's cabin, where, according to information which we had obtained, Bert Bland, Hansen, alias Loughenoff, and one other radical were hiding. A volley rang out and Haney, who was ahead, was seen to fall. The firing became general and bullets whistled all around our possemen, one of whom sprained his ankle and was forced to drag himself away. The other two were unable to continue the fight unaided and withdrew, as they could not locate the source of the firing accurately in the semi-darkness of the woods."

Battle Today.

Captain Dysart said all of today would be required for the relief posse to reach the scene of yesterday's battle and that the proposed new attack on the hidden outlaws would not begin probably before Monday morning.

The confession of Lauren Roberts, who gave himself up last Friday and who said he was one of the three men who had fired on the Armistice Day parade from Seminary Hill, was to the effect that his two companions had been Hansen and another man known as "Curley." Roberts' detailed statements practically have identified this man as Bland, the assistant prosecutor said today. When shown a picture of Bland, Roberts said: "That's the fellow," the prosecutor declared.

Men With Red Cards Arrested, Nebraska

FREMONT, Neb., Nov. 16.—Acting on instructions recently issued by Governor McKelvie, two men carrying I. W. W. membership cards were arrested here today and charged with vagrancy.

BERNE, Switzerland, Saturday, Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—A crisis appears imminent in Austria. The Vienna government, it is reported, is unable to maintain its power and the republic is likely to fall in pieces, several groups declaring for a union with Germany. It is declared the Austrian government will not attempt to prevent a new revolution.

HOLD ARMISTICE DINNER IN LONDON

American Ambassador Is Presented With Address

British Praise Soldiers of United States in Speeches

LONDON, Nov. 16. — Five hundred representative British subjects and Americans assembled last night at the Armistice dinner of the English-speaking union given the American ambassador, John W. Davis and Mrs. Davis, to promote the society's object "to draw together in bond of comradeship the English-speaking peoples of the world."

The affair had been postponed from Armistice day. Lord Reading, former ambassador at Washington, presided and presented to Ambassador Davis, for transmission to America, an illuminated address to the people of the United States.

On behalf of the assembly a cablegram was sent to President Wilson, expressing earnest wishes for his speedy recovery. An enthusiastic reception was recorded a message of greeting from former President Taft, in which he expressed "the earnest hope that before another anniversary the League of Nations, whose usefulness will be effectively protected by the strong bonds between the English-speaking nations, may be successfully functioning and helping the stability of the world on the principles of justice."

Ambassador Davis referred in glowing terms to British hospitality extended to the American troops and the ties of friendship thus engendered.

"It was the sense of common danger," he said, "as well as the common view of right and justice, that fused our energies into one with those of the allies. Who can say all the perils lies behind us? Of this only I am sure, that if the storm clouds re-gather, the mutual respect, mutual confidence and—I dare the statement—mutual gratitude with which Great Britain and America emerged from this war, will flower their fruit in joint defense of the cause of right and justice."

In accepting the address the ambassador said:

"I value it and am grateful for the opportunity to transmit it to the people of America. No music the wit of man can devise could be sweet to America's ears as this praise of her soldier sons and from no nation on earth would she more gladly receive it than from Britain, for she knows the British standard of soldier and man."

"The illuminated address presented to Ambassador Davis bears the signatures of the lord mayors, lord provosts and mayors of the chief cities and towns in the British isles. It says:

"To the people of the United States of America:

"Be it known by these presents, that we, the undersigned * * *, while rejoicing that with the co-operation of the American navy and army and that of the allies, the war has been brought to a victorious conclusion, do hereby declare in behalf of the people of these islands our deep regret at the consequent departure from among us of the American naval and military forces, who have fought side by side with our soldiers and sailors with so much gallantry and success.

"We are sorry that we in this country have not been able to welcome as many of the American land forces as we should have liked, owing to the exigencies of war. Those of your men, however, who have resided, with us have made countless friends among our people and we shall always retain the happiest memories of their visit. The standard of conduct which they have set has indeed been a high one and we can only say that we hope they will take away with them some of those feelings of affection which they have inspired during their sojourn with us."

URGES LAWS TO MEET UNREST

Palmer Declares Present Federal Powers Inadequate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The growth of radicalism throughout the country is to be attributed to inadequacy of federal laws against preaching violent overthrow of the government, Attorney General Palmer declared tonight, replying to the Senate's recent inquiry as to what action had been taken by the Department of Justice to curb efforts to establish a "dictatorship of the proletariat." Mr. Palmer disclosed that the department has more than 60,000 persons under surveillance as radicals, with whom it is unable to cope because of weakness of present statutes.

The attorney general urged passage of a law to supplement the espionage act and to take its place when the war-time measure ceases to be effective. He described the proposed act as being the most effective method of dealing with sedition, anarchy and radicalism generally which members of his staff had been able to draft. Mr. Palmer said the bill was broad enough to stop effectually all attempts to overturn the existing order and yet safeguard free speech and the press.

Activities of the foreign language press present another problem which the department has been unable to meet successfully, he said. Investigations have uncovered 222 foreign language newspapers which have openly advocated changes in the governmental system by violence.

English newspapers branded as anarchistic and menacing by the department's agencies number 105, Mr. Palmer said. He explained that these were much more easily dealt with as loyal citizens are aiding the government in reporting them.

GOVERNMENT PROBING MEXICAN SHOOTING

E. F. Lack of El Centro Wounded by Policeman at Mexicali

EL CENTRO, Cal., Nov. 15.—A full report on the shooting of E. F. Lack, El Centro business man, at Mexicali, Lower California, last night by a Mexican policeman, will be forwarded to the state department at Washington at once, the American consul at Mexicali said today.

Mr. Lack, who last night was believed fatally wounded, will recover, attending physicians said today.

No explanation of the cause of the attack had been made tonight other than the statement by Mexican officials at Mexicali that Lack was treated in accordance with the laws of Mexico.

Richmond Bandits Escape With $300

RICHMOND, Cal., Nov. 15.—A woman bandit with a man companion, both masked and armed, entered the photograph studio of Virgil Read here shortly after one o'clock today, bound and gagged Read and escaped with $300, according to reports to the police. Read was unable to free himself until several hours later, when he gave the alarm.

According to the photographer, the woman directed the male bandit's operations, stood guard over Read and handled a revolver like an expert.

The bandits escaped in an automobile toward Oakland, the police learned.

WOUNDED EX-SOLDIER BEGGING IN BERLIN

Ex-soldier begging in Berlin.

That the recent demonstrations in Belin by returning soldiers were justified is partly proven by the above photograph. This picture, taken recently in Berlin, shows a discharged German soldier still suffering from a wound received in action, actually begging on the streets. The soldier demonstrations were in protest against the Government's failure to provide work for them.

RAIDS AROUSE COAL MINERS

Plan Retaliation Against Government Agents in West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 15.—Information that radical elements in Tucker county are planning retaliation against government agents who today conducted raids in the northern part of the state, was telephoned tonight to the governor's office by the county prosecuting attorney.

The governor was informed that a mass meeting of the radicals was being planned for Thomas, a mining town in that county, tomorrow. The governor, it was understood, had no information that actual violence was being planned, but it was learned that he had instructed the county authorities to get in touch with department of justice officials who are in the Panhandle counties, suggesting their attendance at the meeting.

Inflammatory literature has been circulated among the foreign element in the vicinity of Thomas, it was learned. Some of this propaganda has fallen into the hands of the authorities.

County officials can take care of any situation which might arise, it was stated at the governor's office.

ONE VESSEL IS LOST IN STORM

Fear Others Wrecked; Gale on Lake Superior Subsiding

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Nov. 15.—The storm that for three days has whipped the waters of Lake Superior into an almost unnavigable sea, sent to destruction at least one ore carrier and caused fears for the safety of two others, subsided today. With the abating of the gale it was expected more thorough search of the shore would be made for the steamer John Owens, overdue here, and the carrier Griffin, unheard from since she left Ashland, Wis., last Monday night.

None of the ships looking through the canals here up to noon today reported having sighted either vessel.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 15—Bringing raw silk valued at more than $3,000,000, the Japanese liner Katori Maru will arrive here Monday, according to a wireless message from the vessel.

Ex-Service Posse Routed by I. W. W.'s

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 15.—A posse of ex-service men and I. W. W. clashed tonight in Hannaford valley about twelve miles northeast of Centralia, and the posse was routed, a telephone message to the Ledger from Centralia stated at 10:15 tonight. One man, John Haney, Thurston county game warden, is missing and is believed to have been killed.

A new posse is forming at Centralia and will return to the valley tonight.

ARIZONA-COAST RAIL COMPLETE

J. D. Spreckles Drives Golden Spike in Carriso Gorge

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 15—Completion of the San Diego and Arizona Railway, connecting San Diego with the Imperial valley and Eastern points, was made shortly after noon today, when a golden spike was driven in Carriso Gorge by President John D. Spreckels of the Railroad company. Early this morning a special train bearing 600 San Diegans and out-of-town guest left the depot in this city for the scene of the celebration, nearly 100 miles distant. Included in the crowd were many prominent railroad men of the country who had come here especially for the event.

Although the railroad was completed today with the driving of the golden spike, the celebration on the opening of the railroad will not be held until December 1, when traffic between San Diego and points in the Imperial valley will be formally inaugurated. Trans-continental service is expected to be inaugurated January 1, next.

Fix Berkshire Meet for February 18-19

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 15.—Directors of the western Berkshire congress in session here today set next February 17 and 18 as the dates for the annual convention of breeders of Berkshire hogs to be held at the University farm, Davis, California. A public sale, judging contests and other events are on the program. Young registered pigs were offered as prizes for the best women hog judges. A silver trophy was voted Owen Duffy, manager of the Napa state hospital, for winning the grand champion carload lot of fat hogs at the California International Livestock Show recently at San Francisco on Berkshires in competition with hogs of other breeds.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 15.—Declaring that he would not be swayed by outside influence in regard to the death sentence passed upon eleven negroes for participation in the recent Phillips county race rebellion, Governor Brough today decided to ignore the telegram from M. M. Trotter, secretary of the National Equal Rights league, requesting executive interference in the cases.

Charge Bellboy With Stealing $15,000

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—Calvin L. Savage was arrested here tonight on telegraphic request from Washington, D. C., where it is charged, the police said, that he had stolen diamonds valued at $15,000 from guest at a hotel there where he formerly was employed as a bell boy.

BAY EXPLOSION KILLS WORKER

Powder Plant at San Lorenzo Scene of Shock; Damage Not Great

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 15.—J. J. Rodrigues of Hayward, Cal., was killed in an explosion which destroyed the drying house of the Trojan Powder company's plant near San Lorenzo, south of here at 5:15 o'clock today. A number of bulkheads around the drying house were shattered also.

Every window in the plant was shattered as were many windows in the town of San Leandro, three miles distant. Big plate glass windows in the Pacific Gas and Electric company's office, a real estate office and a jewelry store went crashing to the sidewalk. The force of the explosion was felt for more than 50 miles, San Jose residents putting in calls to bay points to determine the cause of shock.

Rodriguez, who opened up the drying house had been in the place but three-quarters of an hour when the explosion occurred. Company officials believed that a flow of steam overheated the place.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Nov. 15.—Fire tonight destroyed the hangar, office building, four De Haviland and one Curtiss planes at the Bellefonte aviation field the first station on the New York-Chicago aera mail line. The origin of the fire is unknown.

"Soldiers of Fortune" Making Screen History

The first production to be released by the Realart Pictures Corporation is Allen Dwan's "Soldiers of Fortune." It is a picturization of the famous story of romance and adventure by Richard Harding Davis. "Soldiers of Fortune" was a tremendous success, both as a book and a stage play. The book was published by Charles Scribner's Sons and, though it was presented to the reading public about twenty years ago, the demand for it has never decreased, as the publishers regularly get out added editions of this book. It is estimated that the number of copies of the book sold is well over the million mark. At the time "Soldiers of Fortune" was first published, books received a much wider circulation than is the case now. The reason for this is that there was not such an abundance of reading matter published then as there is at the present time.

As a stage play, "Soldiers of Fortune" has achieved fame and success wherever there are theater and theater-goers. Charles Frohman's Savoy Theater was the scene of its New York premiere on March 17, 1902. The play is over seventeen years old, but it is still played in representative stock companies throughout the country.

It was in the stage version of "Soldiers of Fortune" that Robert Edeson made his first debut as a star. In the original cast were many whose names have since become celebrities in the amusement world. The actors included Thomas W. Ross, Macey Harlam, Guy Bates Post, Dorothy Donnelly, Byron Ongly and Wallace Eddinger. "Soldiers of Fortune" lends itself admirably to photo-dramatization. Of course the story has been slightly changed to meet present day conditions, but it is a story that has a universal appeal and the time is of minor importance.

Allen Dwan stands at the head of his profession as one of the foremost producers of the day. He started as a scenario writer for Essanay, later going to the American as scenario editor. While with American he became a director, remaining with that company for three years. Since that time, Mr. Dwan has directed many notable screen successes. Among them are some of Douglas Fairbanks' most popular photoplays, "Panthea," with Norma Talmadge; "David Harum," in which he directed the star of the stage version, William Crane, and "Cheating Cheaters," which served as a vehicle for Clara Kimball Young. He was production manager of the Fine Arts Studio of Triangle when that organization was at its height.

Mr. Dwan has completed "Soldiers of Fortune," and is engaged on another great spectacle which will be released through Realart. The Strand Theater will show the premiere attraction in Fresno for one week, beginning November 23. Other Realart productions are soon to follow.

LUDENDORFF'S OWN STORY

LUDENDORFF TELLS OF DISASTROUS EFFECT OF "POISONOUS WEED" OF PROPAGANDA ON GERMAN MORALE

Says Allied Efforts Were Clever.—Prussian Militarism, Which Saved the State, Blamed Unfairly by People for Their Hardships.

GERMAN PEOPLE AT HOME AND AT FRONT RECEIVED ITS DEATH BLOW.

Americans hardly need be reminded that propaganda was one of the war weapons which Germany, in preparation for war, worked out with her boasted thoroughness. The world was flooded with the outgivings of her news bureaus her diplomats and her various organizations created in every neutral land and even in enemy lands to turn every event to account for Germany's benefit.

The Allied nations were much slower to see the power lying in the battle of ideas. It was only through the insistence of Lord Northcliffe that Great Britain finally organized her propaganda forces as thoroughly as her military forces. The allies followed suit. They not only met the Germans in the world outside, but they invaded Germany itself.

With what disastrous effect the batteries of truth were turned against the house of Hohenzollern and the Junker militarists is eloquently set forth by Ludendorff.

By GENERAL ERICH LUDENDORFF

The German people, at home and the line, has suffered and endured much in the four long years of war. The war has deeply disturbed and injured the sentiments of the people and the whole national morale.

The blockade of extermination and starvation, and the enemy propaganda, which have operated in close association in the fight against the German race and the German people, were a heavy burden, and a burden that grew ever heavier as the war lasted. The blockade worked successfully. Propaganda, which had found fruitful soil at home, now (early in 1917) turned its attention directly to the men at the front, who also were now receptive.

Blockade and propaganda began gradually to undermine our spirits, and to shake the belief in ultimate victory. The eminently justified longing for peace began to assume forms that bordered on weakness, dividing the people and depressing the morale of the army.

Poisonous weeds grew on this soil. All German sentiment, all patriotism, died in many breasts. The ego came to the front. The war profiteer of every variety, not excluding the political type, which took advantage of the country's danger and the government's weakness to snatch political and personal advantages, spread wider and wider. Our spiritual capacity to continue was incalculably weakened. We lost confidence in ourselves.

The idea of revolution, preached by enemy propaganda and by the Bolsheviks, found the ermans in a receptive Gframe of mind, and gained ground in the army and navy through the Independent Socialists. Heresy grew among the broad masses of our people. The German people, at home and the front, had received a death-blow.

When I was appointed "Quartermaster-General, Germany was just at the beginning of this development, and its future course could not be prophesied. One thing, however, was absolutely certain, that we could not watch it as idle spectators.

Something had now been achieved against the starvation blockade; we had broken through it in Rumania. Nobody knew whether we would ever have another chance to break throug, or how we would use it.

Germans Furnished the Phrase Which Proved Deadly at Home.

Before the enemy propaganda we were like a rabbit before a snake. It was exceptionally clever and worked on a very large scale. Its suggestions had a strong effect on the masses; it worked well together with the actual campaigning, and was unscrupulous as to the means it used.

The German people, who had not yet learned the art or the value of silence, had, in its blameworthy frankness, shown by its speech, its writings and its actions, the best line of attack for the enemy propaganda.

The German people had itself coined the phrase, "Prussian Militarism," although this very Prussian militarism, the spirit of selfish olyalty, the surrender of the individual to the conception of the state, had created Prussia and achieved for Germany its magnificent development. People mistook unessential phenomena for the essence of militarism, and failed to appreciate the national strength which rested therein. It should not have been resisted, but encouraged.

Even high officials of the Government used the word reproachfully to me during the war, so that one can hardly blame the many who thought they were acting wisely in turning against "militarism," even if they could not tell clearly the meaning of the word. True, many a man knew full well what the end of such a fight was; authority was at stake.

Ententes Aim Was Sure

The Entente knew quite well the strength of this "Prussian militarism. It knew why it fought against it. It knew, too, what it was doing when it stirred up the Germans against their officers, in the last resort the supporters of the power of the state. It acted with sure aim when it worked against Prussia in South Germany, when it attacked the Emperor, the symbol of our unity, when it railed against the Crown Prince, and promised our people the riches of Heaven if it should once get rid of its imperial house and its other dynasties.

Later on the enemy propaganda attacked me also. The army and the people were to be robbed of their confidence in the Supreme Army Command, the belief in ultimate victory was to be shattered, and faith was to be destroyed in the man who strove to offer strong resistance to the Entente.

By working on our democratic sentiments the enemy propaganda succeeded in bringing our form of government into discredit in Germany and in the whole world as being autocratic, although our Emperor had not the same power as the President of the United States, and although the right of voting for the Reichstag, the great representative body of the Empire, rested on a more democratic basis than that of many other countries.

Germans Ready to Listen

The enemy propaganda aimed ever more directly at breaking up the unity of the German Empire, and at separating Germany from her ruling house, and her dynasties and governments from their people; this was revolution pure and simple.

The propagandists were clever in understanding the effects of such phrases as "peace of understanding," "disarmament" after the war," "League of Nations," and so on, on the peaceful and unpolitical German people. It was only too ready to follow, in conscious or unconscious self-deception, this attractive but deceptive phantasm.

In this connection the propagandists' story that the peace of the world had been disturbed by German plans of world dominion fell too, on fruitful soil.

In plain fact, the German government in the post-Bismarck period had had no great political aim whatever, beyond the maintenance of peace, save perhaps that it aimed at increasing the colonial possessions of the country. It scarcely thought of world politics or policy; it had no clear conception why it made its way to Bagdad.

Living as we have done since 1870-71 a life of constant preference of the apparent over the real, of judging by externals, we have no doubt overestimated our own strength, and thought too little of the forces that were working against us. We extended over the world without having a firm footing in Europe. After gaining Alsace-Lorraine and establishing the Empire, the Germans were satisfied in Europe.

Hurt by Clumsy Politics.

Increse of our colonial possessions, and the securing of a better position in the world by the widening of our markets, had become a necessity for us. This was, however, only to be obtained by force.

Our people, on the other hand, aimed at an equal place in peaceful competition. Preoccupied with business and political doctrines, it did not know that other peoples would find it difficult to distinguish this peaceful aim from the desire for world mastery.

The maintenance of peace was a great object. Just as we could only win a war of defence by attacking, so we could only keep peace by clear and strong policy, carried on on well-defined principles.

This our politics did not succeed in doing. It expressed itself unexpectedly, clumsily. The peoples who were ill-disposed to us took advantage of this to form a combine against us; even those who had hitherto been opposed to one another combined against us. In other ways we showed ourselves uncertain and irresolute, and this, too, brought us no friends.

Many Germans felt grave anxiety in this position, and gave sharp expression to their fears in all directions. In contrast to their Government they had far-seeing ideas. These utterances were, however, merely those of private persons, and no more importance or meaning for us than corresponding statements had in other countries. This habit of speaking out was not changed during the war. The war aims of the Governments and peoples of the Entente were always more far-reaching than the dreams of individual Germans. We know this now to our cost.

Came Into World too Soon.

Plans for world dominion demand a strong national feeling. This, in spite of the foundation of the Empire in 1871, we have never achieved. Our Government in the post-Bismarck period did nothing to cultivate it; on the contrary, we lost it as we lost our strength of will. In our political thought we have remained too "federal," and have retained too deep internal political divisions.

We came into the world too soon, without any national sentiment, and in our sense of world-citizenship, born of foreign influences, we have never found the true level between thinking nationally and thinking internationally, between our domestic and our external interests.

Contrary to the arguments of the enemy propaganda, no dreams of world mastery, no "nationalism" of the German Government, endangered the peace before 1914, or have prevented its conclusion during the war. After all, propaganda did not set out to tell the truth, but merely to break down the determination and the fighting spirit of the German people, and to spread views that would serve its own ends.

At last it found the catchword of the "right of self-determination." A problem seemingly based on a most acceptable truism, but, in truth, not to be solved without oppression, when, as is so often the case, nationalities are mixed. The phrase fitted the case of Austria-Hungary better than it fitted us, but it also had its effect on Germany, and in the long run, in the interpretation given to it by fear and hatred, it was destined to work us grave injury through the contraruction given to it by Germans.

Worked for the Revolution

In the last stages of the war, and quite openly from the beginning of 1918 onward, propaganda worked ever more clearly for the social revolution, side by side with the political revolution. The war was painted as being waged by the upper ten thousand at the expense of the workers, and the victory of Germany as the workers' misfortune.

The enemy propaganda, and Bolshevism, which aimed as a world revolution, were working for the same ends in Germany. England gave China opium, our enemies gave us the revolution, and we accepted the poison and distributed it, as the Chinese distribute opium.

While the enemy propaganda was doing increasing harm to the German people and the army and navy, it also succeeded in maintaining the determination to fight in its own countries and armies, and in working against us in neutral countries.

Responsibility for the war, the Belgian atrocities, the ill-treatment of prisoners, our political immorality and treachery, our mendacity and brutality, the arbitrary government of Prussianized Germany, the enslavement of the German people, were, all these reproaches, cleverly invented, for the purposes of the campaign of lies against us, and had the greatest effect all over the world.

Americans Fought a Crusade

Side by side with these, the catchwords of the fight for democracy against militarism, autocracy and the junker, of the war for civilization and for the freedom of the smaller nations, and other phrases of the sort in ideal guise, of infinite effect on men who do not see too clearly. The public opinion of the world was within their power. For the American soldiers the war became, as it were, a crusade against us.

In the neutral countries we were subjected to a sort of moral blockade. The way to the soul of the neutrals was barred to us. We had not the means to open it. We alone did wrong; everything that the Entente did was morally right and the obvious course to follow. Germany was the world-oppressor and the policy of the Entente, and that alone, was pursuing true moral aims, at once freeing the world and making it happier. In neutral countries, which now must know the truth, we lost all credit, while that of the enemy

"THE OTHER HALF"— STRAND (PHOTOPLAYS)

BILLE BURKE KINEMA "THE MISLEADING WIDOW" (PHOTOPLAYS)

OLIVE THOMAS IN "UPSTAIRS and DOWN" LIBERTY (PHOTOPLAYS)

STRAND

A most suitable vehicle is furnished Louise Huff in "The Little Intruder." We remember her from many appearances with Jack Pickford and she has gained a reputation of no inconsiderable size. We need not hesitate in calling "The Little Intruder" the best picture of her career. Then there is Johnny Hines in this same picture and he has a role that gets laughs in countless numbers. That boy just has a natural ability and in "The Little Intruder" he kicks through with something extraordinary. The picture itself is a most delightful comedy with lots of romance, awful villainy, matrimonial mishaps, etc. For comedy of the pleasing variety "The Little Intruder" fills the bill that calls for the best.

On the same program "The Other Half," with an all star cast, reaches the high mark for entertainment. The theme of the story is built on the adage the half the world doesn't know how the other half lives. It is heralded as a powerful picture and its cast contains such prominent names as Florence Vidor, Zazu Pitts, David Butler, Thomas Jefferson and Charles Meredith.

The large attendance yesterday was well satisfied with the big feature program and much comment was made on the orchestra. W. P. Walsh is going up and taking the laurels that are due him. With each succeeding day his musicians are improving and new ones are being added, to make true the New Strand standard for an augmented orchestra. The new Fox News is almost a feature in itself. Its unusualities are of compelling interest. Not only is its news the very latest, but its novelties are the kind that bring a curl around the lips and provoke many hearty laughs. Manager Wendland announces that he has secured Mr. Roy Homer, better known as "Old Buckskin" who with his famous horse headlight will appear on the stage every afternoon and evening for three days beginning next Thursday. "Old Buckskin" was a ranger on the border line and went through the thick of the fights in the days when Mexico had troubles with U. S. before the World war. William Desmond will be shown in "The Prodigal Liar", which is one of the funniest western comedy dramas that the celluloid film has ever recorded.

KINEMA

When is a widow not a widow? That's the question that puzzles the gossips of a certain conventional little New England town in "The Misleading Widow," with Billie Burke, playing at the Kinema today and tomorrow. And they get all tangled up in their deductions, particularly when the widow's husband is discovered beneath her bed, where he had striven to conceal himself. More than that—there was still another male hiding in her closet, with various pieces of lingerie draped over his uniform. The gossips were shocked, true enough. But they weren't on the inside.

"The Misleading Widow" is one of the best comedies ever projected on the screen, it being taken from the stage play, "Billeted," which scored quite a success. And the star, Billie Burke, is more dainty and charming than ever before.

Other features of this bill are a Judge Brown story, "Shift the Gear Prick"; a beautiful Post Nature Scenic, "Raindrops"; a cartoon; Gaumont Weekly, Christy comedy, and Jack Forrest at the organ playing the popular selection, "My Gal."

Louise Glaum, the screen's greatest emotional actress, comes to the Kinema Wednesday in the massive seven-reel production, "Sahara." A story of the bright lights of Paris and the loneliness of the vast desert. On this bill is also presented Bryant Washburn in "A Very Good Young Man," a fast and entertaining light comedy.

WHITE

"A Tailor-Made Man" White Tomorrow Night.

"A Tailor-Made Man" will be offered for the delectation of local playgoers at the White Theater tomorrow night, Tuesday, Nov. 18.

This city will be one of the first to see the comedy after its New York run, and Cohan and Harris are to send here one of the largest and best-balanced companies that has emanated from the metropolis in a long time. "A Tailor-Made Man" is from the pen of the late Harry James Smith and has been termed the best American comedy in a decade.

LIBERTY

The advent of May Allison, easily one of the most captivating of motion picture comediennes, in a new picture is event enough to draw a remarkable attendance, but in so celebrated a piece as "Fair and Warmer," which Director George F. Sharp presented for the benefit of Liberty patrons yesterday those who follow the screen are afforded an unprecedented treat. The story concerns the tribulations of two young married couples. In one case, the young wife complains that her husband Billy is so perfect that he is dull, and in the other case the young husband, though he adores his wife, employs just the tactics Billy should take advantage of—he goes out of his way to keep his wife guessing. And when circumstances cast together Billy and the apparently neglected Blanny, the result is one of the most absurdly funny series of situations ever contrived, even by Hopwood, the premier farce writer today in the whole of America. The screen production is done elaborately and in some instances the original play upon which the picture is based has been given additional punch through the employment of means at the command of the screen producer but impossible on the stage. The picture is an irresistible laughter compeller from beginning to end and if it hurts anyone to laugh uproariously such a person is advised to stay away. Anyone who does not come within that class must see it, for it is calculated to disperse all the worries of this wicked world to the four corners of the globe.

The second big feature of yesterday's gigantic program was afforded by Sessue Hayakawa in "The Dragon Painter," and those who like beauty in pictures will find in it the most exquisite photography ever thrown on the screen. Pictorially, it is a masterpiece. Much of the action of the story, which gives the famous Japanese the biggest chance of his career, is in the Hanake mountains in Japan. These were taken in the famous Yosemite valley and in order to get the lovely cloud effects, Director Worthington and his staff had to ascend to a height of 1400 feet overlooking the valley, where they waited patiently for days to get just the right effects. The story is a beautiful one and rivets the attention to a wonderful extent and those who have appreciated the work of Hayakawa in previous productions will certainly go into raptures over this latest effort.

The rest of the program, which enhances the reputation of the Liberty (if that be possible), comprises a variety of subjects, any one of which would be starred at an average picture house.

Coming on Wednesday, Olive Thomas in "Upstairs and Down," and H. B. Warner in "For a Woman's Honor," another remarkable program.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

State Superintendent Will C. Wood has just made a ruling defining an important distinction between the rights of parents regarding physical examination and physical education in the schools. The education is compulsory; the examination is not. But if exemption from physical exercises is sought, on the ground of the physical condition of the child, that physical condition must be established by physical examination; otherwise there can be no physical exemption.

Education has long been compulsory in California. There is no such thing as exempting the child from the required education by reason of any opinion of the parent. There are parents who do not believe in education, and others who believe that education in science, history or civics is atheistic, but the state has held that its interest in the child as a future citizen is paramount to any such anti-social scruples on the part of particular parents. So, in matters of mind and morals, education is compulsory, regardless even of objections which parents may regard as "conscientious." And the physical training, which modern knowledge shows to be equally essential, is compulsory on the same terms.

The exception is that in certain physical conditions some parts of this training may be injurious instead of beneficial to the child. Therefore, physical examinations are provided, to determine what, if any, of this training, will benefit each child. But at this point, naturally, comes the conflict with the anti-scientific cults, who deny the reality of physical conditions or the competence of scientific method to determine them. Since, in these days, about the only religious liberty that any one will fight for is the liberty to deny physical facts, the law exempts the children of conscientious objectors from the physical examination. But it does not exempt them for the physical education—on the same principle that the children of objectors to other branches of education are not exempt. The right of exemption, in the case of physical education, depends not on the mental state of the parent, but on the physical state of the child, and that, naturally, can only be determined by examining the child itself. If the parent exercises his right to forbid the physical examination, any right of the child to physical exemption is thereby forfeited. There is no right of exemption on any but physical grounds.

To be sure, the exercise of the right of objection to the examination, under these circumstances, may expose the child to a risk of physical injury. Therefore it ought not to be exercised. In fact, it ought not to exist. The physical conditions in a child's body are not changed by any refusal of the parent to recognize those conditions. But since the law does allow this right, and its exercise under certain conditions might be injurious to the child, it is important that parents refrain from exercising it injuriously.

NOT BOLSHEVISM

If the recent crusade, started by the Berkeley Gazette and others against bolshevism in the University, faculty were directed to the alleged bolshevism alone, it might be dismissed as merely foolish. Unfortunately, the demand for investigation and censorship by the University regents raises also the much more important question of free speech and academic freedom.

As to the bolshevism itself, the accusation immediately evaporated. The chief specification was that Professor Kaun had made a speech in Hawaii which somebody there thought was bolshevistic. That charge was investigated in Hawaii, at the time, and found groundless. All who have had the good fortune to hear Professor Kaun speak on the same subject in this country know how utterly baseless is any such opinion. The only other specification was that three instructors had signed petitions for the release of conscientious objectors. Since socialists had also signed these petitions, it followed that these instructors were bolshevists. Which syllogism is disrespectfully referred to the freshman class in logic for analysis.

But the demand for investigation and censorship by the regents goes deeper. It may be assumed that the personal views of the regents, on political and economic questions, are generally conservative. Most of them are elderly men of large means. It is likewise to be assumed that the faculty contains a number of young men as advanced, or even radical views. Every university faculty in the world has, and must have, such men. It is interesting to note that most of them, in Berkeley, are in the departments of Professor Plehn, a rock-ribbed conservative, and of Professor Barrows, the chief anti-bolshevist in California. These men have deliberately and properly sought to include among their assistants some men whose views differ from their own. Some of these men are fundamentally socialistic in principle. The heads of their departments, who recommended them, and the president who nominated and the regents who elected them are anti-socialistic. If there were 10 be any censorship from above, these men would all be "fired." Which would be a far worse calamity to the University than the mere loss of these men.

It is the business of university scholarship to explore beyond the frontiers of present knowledge. Sometimes a particular exploration may prove to be a false start, but it must be tried, and there must be men in the university who think it worth doing. The very difference between an advancing and a stagnant civilization is determined by its attitude toward these pioneers of knowledge. The obstructor used to be religious orthodoxy. Now it is political and economic orthodoxy. Neither orthodoxy must have power to impose its ready-made conclusions on the investigators of new truth. Any attempt at such a censorship by the University regents would inflict on the University infinitely more injury than even the most revolutionary radicalism on the part of some stray member of the faculty could do. Fortunately, all the regents of the University of California understand this. If they did not, and if they were to take this crusade seriously, they might be stampeded by these newest University critics into making themselves the chief enemies of free thought in California.

VICIOUS PROPAGANDA

The vicious and dangerous nature of the pro-German propaganda in the United States, as revealed by the war, has aroused a widespread and justifiable resentment in this country against any foreign propaganda in favor of any nation.

But there is another sort of propaganda that is even worse than organized crusades on behalf of some nation. That is propaganda against some nation. And this is the sort that the Hearst papers are just now industriously spreading. Anti-British, and anti-Japanese propaganda do not make for the peace of the world. Neither do they contribute to intelligent understanding among nations.

The anti-British propaganda especially is pure demagogy. There is no occasion for hostility between England and America at this time. Nothing now faces the world on which we have conflicting interests, and there are many important things on which we have common interests. In fact, for fifty years the British and American governments have been almost uniformly friendly, and have usually followed the same international policies. The exact reverse was the case during most of the preceding century, and that is the part of our history which most of us know best, because it is the part we learned in school. But a contemporary newspaper should get contemporaneous. We do not blame William R. Hearst for being personally angry at the British government for shutting off his cable service, early in the war. But we do blame him for venting that anger by endeavoring to stir up hostility between England and America.

The anti-Japanese propaganda is even worse, because more dangerous. Between Japan and America there are real and serious issues, on which we are likely permanently to take different sides. Also there is a delicate Japanese problem in California which ought not to become an international problem, but might easily be made so by mutual ill-will and suspicion. On the other hand, there are many more questions in which Japan and America have a common interest and should co-operate helpfully. A break between Japan and America would be a calamity, not merely to the two nations, but to the world. That break should not be prevented by truckling or subservience. We must and will stand up manfully for our side of the matters in which we really differ. But just because these issues exist, there should be no recklessness in magnifying others. He is an enemy of his country who seeks to stir up indiscriminate hatred between America and Japan at this time. The peace may be hard enough to keep, even with good will. It will be impossible with bad will.

UNCIVILIZED

"We have the records of eight innocent persons eaten up by gangs of pickets," says an advertisement by the San Francisco waterfront employers' union. Of course, the imputation of cannibalism is the joint product of the intelligent compositor and the infallible proof reader. Supply the missing "b" and the statement becomes less startling.

However, the difference of uncivilization between settling industrial disputes by eating up and by beating up is only one of degree. Neither is civilized. Both are private war. The actual method is not much better than the one imputed by this typographical accident. Our ancestors adjudicated private disputes by trial by battle or by trial by ordeal. Two men each claimed title to the same piece of land. So, after prayer by the court chaplain, they went at each other, with sword, battle-axe or bludgeon, according to their social status, and the judges awarded the decision to the winner. Or a woman was accused of the crime of witchcraft. So the court assembled by the side of the pond and the accused was thrown in to see if the devil would help her. If she drowned she was innocent, and her memory was vindicated. If she swam out she was guilty, and they fished her out and hanged her. Thus our ancestors administered justice, between individuals. We regard ourselves as having begun to be civilized when we substituted an inquiry in court, with witnesses and jury, for these methods.

What we still lack of civilization is our failure to have made like progress as to disputes between groups and disputes between nations. Disputes between nations we settle by public war, and the United States senate is now obstructing an attempt of the nations to agree to settle them by adjudication. Disputes between groups we settle by private war. It is, to be sure, against the public law to use arms or physical violence in private war, but as long as the right of private war is recognized at all, it will continue to be impracticable to suppress in it the use of the usual and obvious weapons of war. And the most terrible of all these weapons—siege and starvation—are expressly recognized as appropriate to private war. The courts at most stand aside and see that the fight is conducted under the rules. These rules bar "eating up," but they do not bar the stopping of eating. The most effective of all the weapons by which the world conquered Germany is at the disposal of any small group of Americans, which desires to levy war on the rest of America in order to conquer more profits or wages. It is not civilized. Civilized men adjudicate; savages fight.

"PEONES DE CIENCIA"

The fact that the three Nobel prizes just awarded have all gone to German professors is a reminder that even war did not deprive Germany of what Ibanez, in the "Four Horsemen," described as "Peones de la ciencia; benedictinos del laboratorio"—"peons of science; monks of the laboratory." Germany has been, for more than a century, much the most learned country in the world; but the generation of Germany's imperial progress was also the generation of the decadence of its science. A few great men still carried on the tradition of a great past, but for the most part German professors became mere grubbers, peones de la ciencia, who made up in patience and narrow specialization what they lacked in inspiration. Few of them started anything new, but they filled up very carefully the gaps and chinks left in the work of their predecessors. By the ruthless suppression of the individual, and the efficient co-ordination of their efforts to common goal, they did make many useful discoveries, some of which their superiors monstrously misused in the war. What Bismarck called the "educated proletariat" was one of the assets of Germany. Highly trained scientist were plenty and cheap, and it was easy to organize them into companies and regiments for the conquest of nature. Monks of the laboratory, they still produced valuable codices. And they did not stop for war, and will not stop for peace. They will still be an asset of Germany. They should be made likewise an asset of the world.

NO UNIFORMITY IN INDIANS' SYSTEM OF TIME-RECKONING

Simplicity and absence of uniformity are the remarkable features of the methods of time-reckoning used by the Indians north of Mexico, according to a recent publication in the American Archaeology and Ethnology series of the University of California publications by Leona Cope of the State University.

"In no case are these methods worthy of the name calendar system in its usually accepted sense—that is, a series of years, named or numbered from a definite fixed point, each subdivided into several smaller units, and adjusted more or less accurately to the solar year," writes Miss Cope.

Evidences of higher development in calendar systems are found in portions of North America—notably among the tribes of the North Pacific Coast and of the Southwest area, where fairly complex systems with an astronomical basis are in use, which contrast with the very simple non-intercalated and unregulated attempts of the Indains of the Plains, and of Northeast and Southeast Woodlands, according to the author.

Another interesting fact of note about these calendars, writes Miss Cope, is that they were not used to record the passage of time; the "calendar" was not designed for recording the number of years or month or days since a given event took place, or between two given events. The Indians were able to keep a fairly close count of the passage of time within the current year, but beyond this all chronology was indefinite. Since their occupations, food, and manner of life in general varies according to the changes of nature, it is declared not strange that they carefully observed the atmospheric and celestial phenomena, or had acquired a practical knowledge of the instincts and habits of animals, birds and fishes.

Calendars of the Indians in general fell into three classes, according to Miss Cope. There were the descriptive, the astronomical, and the numeral. The descriptive calendar began with some natural event of importance to the Indian as the beginning of winter. The astronomical calendar recognized the solstices, or points at which the sun is farthest from the equator, north and south. The numeral calendar divided a definite period into ten or eleven of fifteen periods.

References to cold and heat, spring and autumn, animal, bird, or fish life, wind, fruits and berries, are found in practically all calendars. Miss Cope cites a few instances of the peculiar forms taken among different tribes:

October-November (mush ice forms).
January, (month dog is cold.)
December, (Rabbit cast quickly), meaning days are getting short.
November, (freezing rivers.)
February, (pattering showers.)
April-May, (rise of waters.)
July-August, (rainy month.)
October, (time for working, i. e. sewing.)
December, (time for setting seal nets.)
June, (sun goes for long days.)
July, (month of the long day.)
July, (ground burning moon.)

A frontispiece shows the distribution of the Indian tribes and the type of native calendar used.

The publication is available at the University of California Press.

AN ELEPHANT ON HIS HANDS

As DeWolf Hopper used to sing to us in "Wang."

There once was a king, so the minstrels sing,
Who a herd of elephants had;
And a peasant poor, who lived next door,
He wanted an elephant bad.
Now the generous king, did a foolish thing,
By giving the peasant one.
For sky-blue rain at once began bewain'
For the luckless son-of-a-gun.
For the elephant ate all night,
And the elephant ate all day;
Do what he could to furnish food,
The cry was still "more hay!"
'Till he tore his hair, in wild despair,
And piped his lachrymal glands.
And cursed the whim that had saddled him,
With an elephant on his hands.
So great the beast demands,
That his lachrymal glands
He piped like mad, because he had,
An elephant on his hands.

CALIFORNIA MUST DEVELOP MORE HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER

More hydroelectric energy must be developed in California to meet the present requirements, and vastly more is necessary to accommodate future demands."

The foregoing is an excerpt from an article by Irving S. Martin, a member of the California state railroad commission, published in the Stockton "Record" in its issue of August 30, last. It indicates that the railroad commission, having jurisdiction of the public utilities of the state, appreciates the seriousness of the power situation and the immediate necessity of its amelioration in the best interests of the state of California and her people. A letter sent out by the commission to the power companies last Auust contained the following:

"We are certain that you appreciate the critical situation of the power supply at this time, and the urgent necessity of employing every practicable means to meet the increasing demand for power, both by new construction and by the reinforcement, where feasible, of present facilities."

This message is fraught with grave importance. It presents to the people of California, as well as to the public utilities, a state of things very little realized up to the present time. And, while warning the people of this condition, it renders inestimable service to the cause of progress in California by reminding the people that to themselves this problem of hydroelectric development is one of pure self-interest.

In other words, it is being brought home to the people that the time has arrived when they must get behind the public utilities in their own interest, that they must realize that in the success of those public utilities lies their hope of future progress, and that their policy from now on must be to speed rather than retard the public utilities on their way.

A few facts recently compiled by the engineers of the California state railroad commission will serve to explain better than anything that has yet been published the situation as it stands today. These figures are as follows:

There are eighty-four electric utilities in the state of California, operating seventy-five hydroelectric plants, with an installed capacity of 465,000 kilowatts, and fifty steam plants with an installed capacity of 305,000 kilowatts, making a total of 125 plants, aggregating 770,000 kilowatts.

During the year 1918 these plants generated a total of 3,892,000,000 kilowatt-hours, of which 2,102,000,000 kilowatt-hours, or 75 per cent of the total, were produced from water power.

This power is transmitted through 7,300 miles of high tension transmission lines to points of distribution, from which $4,000 miles of secondary distribution lines extend. Electric service is supplied to 545,000 consumers.

The installed capacity of consumers' lights, motors and other power-consuming devices exceeds 1,500,000 horsepower. Nearly 900,000 kilowatts of distribution transformers are installed on these systems.

The following statement summarizes the revenues and operating expenses of all California electric utilities for the year ending December 31, 1918:

Revenues.
From municipal lighting	$ 1,758,000
From residence and commercial lighting	12,793,000
From sales to other electric utilities	3,681,000
From power	26,582,000
From miscellaneous	750,000
	$39,562,000
Operating Expenses. (Including maintenance and repairs.)
Production expenses (Of which $4,712,000 was for fuel oil, and $22,563,000 was for purchased energy.)	$10,111,000
Transmission expenses	741,000
Distribution expenses	2,721,000
Commercial expenses	1,565,000
General and miscellaneous expenses	1,755,000
Other (indse., steam sales, etc.)	605,000
Taxes	2,090,000
Depreciation	2,445,000
Total operating expenses	$22,592,000

The following figures for the years 1915-1918, inclusive, are based on the actual output of the five principal systems supplying Northern and Central California. The figures given for 1919-1922, inclusive, are estimates of the necessary output and peak load of these systems to fulfill the growing demand for electricity in Northern California:

	Millions of Kwh.	Peak Load in Kw.
1915	1,220	220,000
1916	1,360	240,000
1917	1,510	260,000
1918	1,680	300,000
1919	1,860	340,000
1920	2,050	365,000
1921	2,250	400,000
1922	2,450	445,000

For the territory supplied by these five companies alone, it is estimated that additional generating facilities must be provided at a rate of not less than 30,000 Kw. per annum, which will entail expenditures of at least $50,000,000 per year for power stations and transmission facilities alone. This does not take into account an equally large expenditure for distribution and other facilities necessary to deliver this power.

The foregoing facts and figures tell an eloquent story, one that should strike home to all good citizens of California who wish to see their beloved state take her rightful place among the other states of the union, namely, in the front rank of modern progress and development.

LUDENDORFF'S OWN STORY

rose to great heights. We had, it is true, our friends, but they had no weight.

Similar work was done in the countries allied to us. The object was to separate us from our allies.

England As Propagandist

Propaganda was an old and powerful weapon in England's hands. The East India Company had striking success with it in the conquest of India. They set up schools in England. England was the only country that long ago had employed this weapon of politics and war with a certain system, and on a really large scale, in the service of its national world-encircling policy.

To threaten foreign countries with the aid of revolution has for many years been the policy of England" said Bismarck sixty years ago. He was thinking of the speech of Canning on December 12, 1826, in which that Prime Minister threatened in a public sitting of the House of Commons that England controlled the winds of Aeolus, and could at any time unchain the powers of revolution.

"If we," he said, "take part in a war, we shall see gathered under our [illegible] the restless and dissatisfied, whether with or without [illegible] country with whom we are in conflict."

(Canning in dealing with the proposal to make war against Spain on the side of Portugal, said:

"If into that war this country shall be compelled to enter, we shall enter into it with a sincere and anxious desire to mitigate rather than exasperate—and to mingle only in the conflict of arms, and not in the more fatal conflict of opinions. But I much fear that this country, however earnestly she may endeavor to avoid it, could not, in such case, avoid seeing ranked under her banners all the restless and dissatisfied of any nation with which she might come into conflict."

(The reference in the winds of Aeolus comes somewhat later in the speech, and is unconnected with any suggestion for encouraging revolution in enemy countries.)

Even before the war careful watchers had clearly observed the propagandist activities of our present enemies. They were then already working systematically against us. It was mainly their propaganda that England and France had to thank for the success of their policy of undermining our position in the world. The disarmament proposals of the Tsar were their handiwork, and well adapted to the undiscriminating credibility of many circles in Germany. The wide distribution in the English world was also part of the same work. It would have been better if it had never been written.

We were to be cut off from the world by Reuter (the great English news agency). Our political leaders apparently failed to observe the influence of the present Entente control over the press of the world, although their attention was drawn to it often enough. They also did not see the effect of the little groups of French culture in the capitals of neutral countries on opinion on those countries.

Masons of the world are accused by Ludendorff in the next installment of having aided in the propaganda which did so much to upset the German morale. He also bears testimony to the big part America took in the battle of minds, which he found as important as the conflicts on the battlefield. He vents his scorn on the German bourgeoisie for helping in the dissemination of pleas against German autocracy spread by the Entente.

We learn that Dick Myers has within a few days lost the majority of his band of sheep, numbering 2400, from eating some poisonous weed.

We are sure of one if not two roads to Eadie and Mammoth City. Next year 20,000 people in the mines will draw their supplies from Fresno county.

There is a splendid opening for a woolen factory in Fresno. Increased quantities of the raw material are shipped from here twice a year, which should be worked into cloth, blankets, etc.

Fresno raising have already acquired an enviable reputation. San Francisco firms have authorized our merchants to purchase all that are offered. Pretty good for the first season of export.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

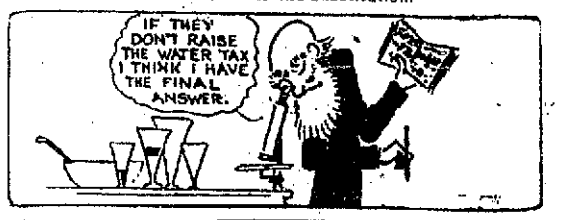

THE GLORY THAT WAS GREASE

When cream became so scarce and high
That e'en the rich began to mutter,
A scientist's discerning eye
Revealed a substitute for butter.
A pungent substitute it was,
Which people ate with bitter curses
But still they purchased it because
Its cost was suited to their purses.

But when the cost of lard arose
The scientists grew apprehensive
And murmured glumly, "Goodness knows
Our substitute is too expensive.
It's chief ingredient is lard.
Too rich by far in butter fat."
And so they labored very hard
And found a substitute for that.

And then the cost of axle grease
Betrayed so great an inclination
With every minute to increase,
The scientest, in consternation
Remarked, "This fills me with dismay;
I must get busy right away
And substitute my substitution."

Concerning what we're getting now
My sentiments I shall not utter.
I'll merely state that anybow
It's seventeen removes from butter
But still the price my purse don't suit
And science, hunting a solution
Will substitute the substitute
That substitutes the substitution.

HARD LUCK.

The President of Andorra gets $16 a year and he must have to spend twenty-five or thirty cents of that every four years for election expenses.

BELL OF THE BULUSAN.

The Bulusan was a small Spanish war vessel captured at Manila Bay, but which has since disappeared from the shipping lists. The ornate Spanish bell which once belonged to the ship now hangs in the home of an American naval officer.

Brave Bell, I wis you'd spin a yarn.
And tell me all your story.
Of all the seas you've looked upon
And all the ports of glory.

And did you strike the golden hours
In palm fringed island bay;
And send the sailors to their rest
When you were under way?

I know you hailed from some far place,
From some famed Spanish town,
For there's a legend on your rim
With here and there a crown.

And whereaway's the Bulusan?
I wonder where she'll ride—
Is she safe in sunlit harbor,
Or far down beneath the tide?

Y. M. C. A. TO GIVE BANUQET

Sixth Annual Affair to Be Held at Tulare on Thursday

LINDSAY, Nov. 16.—The sixth annual convention and banquet of the Tulare County Young Men's Christian Associations will be held in Tulare Thursday evening, November 20. The dinner will be served by the ladies of the Methodist church at 75 cents per plate. Representatives will assemble from various parts of the county and the program will consist of addresses, reports of the year's work, and the election of the County Committee which is the directing body for the Association work of the county.

Reports from the County Y. M. C. A. office in Lindsay evidence a great interest in the work of the county organization. 300 boys are already enrolled in the groups and about as many more will be enrolled in the near future. Each group meets once a week under adult leadership and the activities are such as appeal to the boys, covering a considerable range.

"Several new territories are requesting the organization of this type of work," says County Chairman C. R. Scott of Lindsay. "We shall endeavor to meet the demands for larger number of boy's groups in these communities as soon as possible. The group activities appeal to the boys. They appeal to some of us who are older also. We expect to have 33 or more of these boy's clubs organized within the next month, and some interesting activities are outlined including the boys of both high and grammar schools. We are organizing nine Hi Y clubs with about 200 high school boys enrolled. Several of these boys will be present at the annual meeting next Thursday evening to report on their Hi-Y work."

AOS 600 MEMBERS.

LINDSAY, Nov. 15.—The local Red Cross membership drive, which was begun last week, resulted in about 600 renewals, the total receipts being something over $625. The balance of the quota will be taken from the treasury of the local chapter. Mrs. C. K. Towl was chairman of the drive.

Recall Election to Be Held for Mayor

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 15.—The recall election against Major Jay A. Hinman, councilman from the Second ward (East Bakersfield) will be held next Friday, November 21, as a result of the decision of Superior Judge J. W. Mahon yesterday sustained the demurrer of City Clerk Vande Van Riker to the suit brought by R. Meyers, taxpayer to enjoin the city clerk from proceeding with the election.

The sample ballots have been mailed out and election boards appointed for the election.

The election against Councilman C. P. Baughman of the First (East Bakersfield) ward has fallen through.

Both Mayor Hinman and Councilman Baughman were the objects of recall petitions because they voted to declare the office of city manager held by W. W. Harris, vacant, and elected the present city manager, F. S. Benson.

The issue came to a head following the arrest of Mayor Hinman by the then chief of police W. J. Vizzard, because the mayor refused to move on which he (the mayor) was investigating the conduct of a local cafe on the night John Barleycorn was officially closed up, June 30.

If Mayor Hinman should be recalled, no successor will have been chosen as the charter makes no such provision and the mayor, it is stated, will hold the office. It is his contention, until his successor is chosen. To elect a councilman would be to hold nominating election after the recall election.

Judge Mahon in his ruling yesterday supporting the city clerk, denied the right of the plaintiff Meyers to amend his complaint thereby leaving no avenue to stay the election.

The Baughman petition was thrown out because of some delay in the procedure.

It is stated that even if the mayor should be recalled, the legal battle will only have just started. In the present proceedings Mr. Hinman has been represented by Kaye & Sinson and the city clerk.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I wish to announce to my friends and the public that I have taken charge of the Real Estate Department at Kiltrell-Redden Co.'s, 201 Ivory Building, where we have a full line of houses, lots and land for sale.

NORTHFORK

NORTHFORK, Nov. 16.—On Sunday morning, November 9, word came on the line to the forest rangers that some men in a big touring car were on the road shooting at quail, notwithstanding the fact that the season did not open till the 15th. Two of the rangers started down the road to meet them, but they had turned off at the store. The rangers followed, but the big Cadillac kept ahead of their Maxwell, and by the time they reached the Mayer Mill the hunters were out of possible reach, but the local constable, Neill McDougald, to whom a message had been sent, met them and noted all the information as to the names of the men, make of car, etc., that the rangers had obtained along the road. McDougald kept up the chase on the theory that the hunters would stop for lunch at Coarsegold, and overtook them between Coarsegold and Raymond, finding eleven valley quail and one cottontail rabbit in their possession. Both men were arrested and lodged in the Madera jail that night. Monday morning they were tried before the justice of the peace and fined, one $25 and the other $50.

Principal Browning of the Northfork union school is training a school band. Among the boys are two who play the cornet, two the violin, one the piano and one a snare drum, and these six practice together under Mr. Browning's direction twice a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Walker went as far as Fresno Monday with Mrs. Walker's mother, Mrs. Goddard, who has been visiting them for some time and is now returning to her home.

Joe Klusman and Pan Harris have established winter headquarters at Fuller Meadow, from which point they will trap through the Chiquito on one side of the San Joaquin and the Dutton Meadow country on the other. They took 120 traps of various sizes with them, and will be on the lookout for bear, as well as the smaller furbearers.

Larsen Hogue is in town this week, looking after the Hogue ranch conditions.

Charles Mainwaring, whose development of his homestead near Northfork was interrupted when he volunteered as an aviator in April, 1917, is working on the place this week, assisted by Sidney Gardner. Mrs. E. S. Mainwaring, with Margaret and Sid, came up with the two young soldier-farmers for a few days at Crane Valley.

Miss Della O'Connor is home again after a six-day visit in Fresno, during which she attended the wedding of her friend, Miss Maidene Jarvis.

While not exactly a Northfork item, it is an item of much interest to Northfork people that Paul G. Redington has been chosen by the forester to be district forester with headquarters at San Francisco, to take the position left vacant by the resignation of Coert DuBois. Mr. Redington was for six years supervisor of the Sierra National Forest, with headquarters at Northfork. From that position he was sent to Albuquerque to be district forester there, over the southwest district, and now comes back to the Pacific coast district.

M. McElligott of power house No. 3 has purchased a brand new Ford chassis and is building an up-to-date racer body of the most classy type. What Mr. McElligott is expecting to do with his new outfit we do not know, but a big startling surprise is looked for.

CORCORAN

CORCORAN, Nov. 16.—Mrs. M. St. John left for Los Angeles Wednesday, where she will join her daughter, Mrs. Agnes St. John.

E. Harp is on the sick list this week.

Mrs. Hall, mother of Mrs. J. Carter, passed away on November 10, after a long illness at her daughter's home on Hall avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hurlbut are in Los Angeles for a few days this week.

L. P. Mitchell has purchased the cottage on Whitley avenue, known as the VanZandt cottage and has moved in. Mr. Day, who recently occupied the above-mentioned cottage, has moved to the McNutt cottage on Sherman avenue.

C. D. Walker is building a spacious screen porch on the rear of his residence on Sherman avenue.

A pleasant birthday party was given Mrs. A. H. Fox on November 11 by her Sunday school class. Games and music were the evening entertainment. Cake and chocolate were served. Those present were: Misses L. Norcess, Mary Ostergard, Mamie Bartholomew, Edith Meeks, Myrtle and Ruth Salisbury, Lucinda Hall, Messrs Ray Workman, Alex Hall, Frank Fox, John Juvenil, Leonard and James Bartholomew.

OWLS' RUBE DANCE

Give Your Eyesight a Chance

—Don't Overwork Your Eyes

—Wear Glasses

Do you spend hours reading over the fine print, or in a bad light? Do you strain your vision? Don't do it; it isn't fair to your eyes. You are not giving them a chance to function properly, but you are overworking them. Whenever it is necessary for you to work them long hours at a time on matter that requires the clearest vision, it would be the sensible thing for you to wear glasses. That will ease the strain, and give your eyesight a rest.

We can fit you with the proper lens to enable you to see clearly, and at the same time not notice that you are wearing glasses at all. Call, and let us examine your eyes; they may benefit by the proper wearing of our glasses.

A Bundle of Habits

From birth our lives are largely given to the acquiring of habits.

Many habits must displace others previously formed.

Commercially we form most of our buying habits from 20 to 40. During these years each generation decides for itself on material things.

The habit of the last generation of the "Saturday-night bath" is displaced evidently, for the modern hotel advertises every room with bath.

Perhaps the bathroom fixture people did not bring this change about—but they profit by it enormously.

Sunkist wants us all to form the habit of using more lemon products the year round.

If they can form a new habit or strengthen an old one, they will sell more train loads of lemons.

What does habit do for or against your business?

Advertising can change habits.

BRAWN TO MEET BRAWN TUESDAY

Josephs and Taramaschi Ready to Wrestle at Auditorium

Those who travel far to see brawny arms and brawny bodies locked in the wrestler's grip will have a chance to see Aram Josephs, Armenian champion of Fresno, and Angelo Taramaschi, Italian giant of San Francisco, struggling on the mat at the Auditorium Tuesday evening. The event has been scheduled for some days and both of the contestants are working out for their meeting. Catch as catch can holds will be used in the mat work.

A preliminary match has been scheduled between William Permann, now working out with Josephs, and Peter James, Jr., who travels in the Taramaschi train. This is expected to make a good bout, while the interest of the evening's wrestling will center in the heavyweight tangle.

While Josephs is outweighed some pounds in the match, he states that he expects that he will be able to throw his brawny opponent, while Taramaschi is working hard at the Y. M. C. A., and states that his work against the Fresno man will be his best argument. Josephs is undergoing spasms of training for his mix with the San Francisco giant, and states that he is going to be in good shape for the wrangle on Tuesday night. He is doing daily work at the Armory and is using Permann as his wrestling mate in preparation for the clash with the big Italian.

Josephs has a large following in Fresno eager to see him once more essay wrestling after months in which he has not been seen in action on the mat. Consequently his work against the bigger and heavier opponent is going to be watched with interest.

Aram Joseph stated last night that the subject of a referee was causing concern at the present time as no suitable party acceptable to both the wrestlers could be obtained. A referee will not be named, he stated, until both parties agree to a man whom they are sure will give them mutual satisfaction and also meet with the approval of the general public.

Joseph stated that he had done over four miles of road work yesterday and had worked out with four wrestling partners in the afternoon to condition himself for the ordeal he faces in meeting Taramaschi.

COAST FOOTBALL TITLE IN DOUBT

All Colleges Have Met Defeat in Early Games

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—No team can make a clear claim to the Pacific coast football championship so far, as all the universities and colleges except Stanford have suffered defeats this season and Stanford has not played any of the leading contenders.

The University of California, University of Washington and Washington State College are considered the most promising candidates for the coast title. Stanford and the University of California meet next Saturday. The University of Oregon won the title in that state yesterday by defeating Oregon Agricultural College and the University of Washington won from Washington State College.

Washington State College has two victories and one defeat to its credit. The University of Washington has scored one victory and suffered one defeat. The University of California has a similar record but with two games yet to play. Oregon has won twice against the agricultural college team and an early season victory over the University of Washington while a week ago Oregon was beaten by Washington State.

By defeating both Stanford and Washington University, California would be declared the champion, it is considered here, otherwise the choice would lie between the two teams from the state of Washington.

Fresno Players Defeat Oakland in Tennis Match

Capturing four matches to one, the Fresno tennis club defeated players from Oakland yesterday in the first of the series of inter-city matches which the club hopes to be able to hold this winter. A return match will be played in Oakland at a later date, it was announced.

Following is the result of the match yesterday:

E. E. Bradley (Fresno) defeated Senator E. M. Otis (Oakland), 6-8, 6-1, 6-1.

F. R. Waring (Fresno), defeated W. P. Ellis (Oakland), 6-1, 8-6.

G. Finkenstedt (Fresno), defeated H. W. Pyburn (Oakland), 7-5, 7-5.

C. F. Burks and F. R. Waring (Fresno), defeated E. M. Otis and W. P. Ellis (Oakland), 2-6, 6-3, 6-3.

E. E. Bradley and F. Guerin (Fresno), defeated Ruben Hunt and H. W. Pyburn (Oakland), 6-0, 7-5, 6-0.

Ruben Hunt (Oakland) defeated F. Guerin (Fresno), 6-1, 6-1.

On Thanksgiving Day the local tennis club will hold its first city tournament and a large entry list is already assured. The club believes that there will be more players to enter and the entry list will be kept open.

While the Oakland players were in Fresno they were entertained by Messrs. E. E. Bradley, G. Finkenstedt and F. Guerin.

WILL DECIDE 1920 CIRCUIT FOR WESTERN

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Club owners of the Western League began arriving tonight to attend the annual meeting of the league tomorrow. President Tearney said the question of a circuit for the 1920 season would be discussed and officers elected.

MINORS FAVOR AN AGREEMENT

Are Willing to Consider Terms With Major Organization

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The National Association of Minor Baseball Leagues, which abrogated the national agreement with the major league last January, is willing to enter into "an amicable agreement," it was announced tonight by A. R. Tearney of Chicago, chairman of the committee appointed for this purpose. A resolution to that effect was adopted at a meeting of the association at Springfield, Mass., after J. Cal Ewing of San Francisco, a member of the committee, had an informal conference in New York last Friday with August Herrmann of the national commission and John Heydler of the National League regarding restoration of relations between the major and minor leagues.

When the minor league body decided to abrogate the national agreement last January, it appointed a committee to arrange some amicable arrangement with the major leagues. To prevent misconception of the stand of the minor league regarding the matter, Chairman Tearney made public this resolution:

"Resolved, That the National Association approves the action taken by its committee appointed to enter into an agreement with the major leagues, and it hereby resolves to continue this committee in existence for the purpose of entertaining any proposition which the major leagues may have to submit in an endeavor to formulate an amicable agreement between the major and minor leagues."

PARIS, Nov. 16.—(Havas.)—The supreme council yesterday decided upon the term of its reply to the Rumanian note. Rumania will have a week in which to respond to the council's communication.

Sanger Wins in Tennis Matches Over Clovis Hi

SANGER, Nov. 16.—The second of a series of inter-high school tennis matches for the league division in which Sanger high is entered was played here yesterday afternoon with Sanger winning all the girls' matches and the boys' singles. The boys' doubles was called on account of darkness when each team had won a set and the score stood 5-5. No date has been set as yet for the finishing of the match.

It was arranged that the playing should begin at 10 o'clock but at the request of Clovis, it was changed to begin at 1:30 o'clock. A large number of the pupils of each school was on hand to support their respective school.

In the girls' singles, Sanger was represented by Freda Black, and won by a score of 6-1, 6-2. In the girls' doubles, Sanger was represented by Mildred Walton and Ruth Nesson, and won by a score of 6-0, 6-1. In the boys' singles, Sanger was represented by Mac Humphreys and won, 6-4, 6-1. Allene Peck and Keepers Johnston represented Sanger in mixed doubles, and won, 7-5, 6-3.

The score in the boys' doubles as far as it has been completed stands Sanger won the first set 6-4, Clovis won the second set, 6-2, and the third set stands 5-5, leaving the result a tie so far, although Clovis has won a larger total of points.

The final match of this series, so far as Sanger is concerned will be played at Kerman with the Kerman high school, in two weeks.

HIGH WILL PLAY TWO GAMES HERE

Hanford Eleven Will Be Played Saturday at Fair Grounds

Contesting on the local field for the first time since 1917, the Fresno high school eleven will tackle the Hanford team on the fair grounds field next Saturday. A game in which both teams will do their utmost is expected as Hanford is going well this season and under the captaincy of Moulden, now playing at quarter, they expect to rout the Fresno players on their own field.

Following the clash with Hanford, the Stockton team, defeated by the Fresno men on their own field by a score of 13 to 12, will come here on Thanksgiving day for a return game, determined to reverse the results of the last game and register a win on Fresno's own field. This will give the people of Fresno a chance to see their own high school team in action twice on the local field and as all the games this season have been played away from home, school circles and also the football fans of the city are anxious for the Fresno boys to show what they can do before the home rooting section.

Under the direction of Coaches Warner and Leymel the Fresno high team has rounded into a good machine, and Captain Giffen at tackle is proving a tower of strength in the line and also a good field leader to rally the Fresno men to meet the attack. Hardy is running the team with more experience than his length of service at quarterback would justify and much of the team's success can be laid to his football intuition.

Both of the games will be played on the fair grounds field and large delegations are expected to witness both clashes with the Fresno men playing before the people of their own city after so many games away from home.

Oregon Women Urge Session on Suffrage

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 16.—Mrs. Elliott Corbett, president of the Portland Suffrage Alliance, was named today at a mass meeting of women here to be chairman of a committee of three to go to Salem next week and again urge Governor Ben W. Olcott to call an extra session of the legislature to ratify the national suffrage amendment. Mrs. Corbett was empowered to appoint the other two members of the committee.

Pat—Go aisy, Mike; it's three moiles we have before us.

Mike—Sure, that's why Oi'm hurryin'; Oi want to get there before Oi'm tired out.—Boston Transcript.

--o-- SPORT JOTTINGS --o--

Frankie Jones, who was introduced to the fight populace of Fresno at the last card here, is regarded as a regular scrapper in the four-round class, having come through the ordeal of many battles over the short route in and around San Francisco. He has met all comers from the 140 pound class up and last week battled against and out-fought the Morango Valley heavyweight, Wild Willie Webb, and made that gentleman exceeding so through the four rounds of the mix. Jones has defeated this year a good number of boys including Frankie Hayne, Frankie Denny, Tillie Herman and Mexican Kid Carter. It is expected that Promoter Jewell will use Jones on his next card and give the people of Fresno a chance to see his machine gun left and clever and also wicked right cross.

Now that the smoke of battle has cleared away and left the Stanford Frosh palpitating with the stigma of a rousing defeat at the hands of the California Babies, the interest in collegiate circles and also in the larger realm of sportdom on the coast, has settled on the impending clash between the varsities of the two California colleges. Time alone can tell the outcome and meanwhile the strife is rampant on paper as to which will prove the superior in the American game.

When Joe McIvor throttled Joe McGurk, his ancient rival, in the Fresno ring on the last legion card, the first Joe's prophecy that he would beat McGurk when the two next met, was fulfilled and fulfilled in good style. McIvor, it is true, outweighed the Fresno fighter by several pounds, but that did not matter materially as the bigger boy showed that he was in better condition and earned his win in a decisive fashion. But as to McIvor's former contention that he could take on Cline and McGurk in one evening—that still goes unanswered, and fight fans are of the opinion that he would have had considerable difficulty in doing the stunt all on the same card. In all probability, there will be a battle on the next legion card between Cline and McIvor and with that meeting there will be another line available on the fighting proclivities of this husky McIvor party.

Quite a surprise was registered in the Eastern football circles when the Princeton Tigers triumphed over the Yale blue Saturday by the score of 13 to 6. Victory was achieved in the last period when the Princeton leader plunged through the scattered Yale field for a twenty yard run and the final count which tore victory from the blue.

It was known that they could round the bases, but some of them soar to higher flights and essay the tenor roles—these Pacific Coast League men who are going to circulate on the stage as a male quartet. The quartet is composed of Phil Koerner of the Seals, Harry Krause and Ira Colwell of the Oaks and Scotty Alcock of the Tigers.

The American Legion football team came through with a redoubtable showing in their wrangle on Armistice Day with the Olympic Club of San Francisco and as a result they are well satisfied, but not quite so for the team wants another game and it is thought that with another chance they might be able to best the strong San Francisco team. A fumble cost the lonely score and that means that the luck of football was not with the legionites. Thousands of fans saw a good game and will probably see more when the legion schedules another for Fresno.

Harry O'Brien, the St. Paul welter, now in Fresno, is working for a place on the next legion card and wants to show the Fresno fans that he has the required stuff to make a good showing against any man in the class brought to face him. He has shown good form in his workouts.

The University of Oregon won the annual cross country run and the soccer game from Oregon Agricultural College, Saturday by the score of 36 to 40, and the soccer contest by the score of 3 to 1.

Syracuse University's big football team made its final bid for eastern football honors Saturday when in the presence of 25,000 spectators it sent Colgate's hitherto undefeated eleven down in defeat, 13 to 7.

The University of Oregon's football team won from the Oregon Agricultural College eleven Saturday on Kincaid Field, 9 to 0, outplaying the Corvallis eleven in every department.

SINGLE GIVES GAME TO REDS

With Two Needed, Scheidt Comes Thru to Beat Pirates

A clean single by Scheidt of the Fresno Reds in the eighth inning of Santos' Pirates at Cosmos playground yesterday's game against the Mike Santos' Pirates at Cosmos playground, scored two and won for the Reds by the count of 4 to 3. The Pirates took a couple in the first and the Fresno Reds made it even with tallies in the third and fourth. The Pirates slipped over another to take the lead in the fifth and with two needed to win, Scheidt came through.

Jacobsen, the Reds' heavy-hitting pitcher, did good work on the mound yesterday and was backed by almost errorless support. His work was especially noticed in the pinches, when he tightened and only allowed the Pirates three hits to the four his teammates gained off Shintaku. Shintaku was hard for the Reds and retired twelve by the strikeout method.

A large crowd witnessed the game, which was the first of a series arranged between the Reds and the Pirates. The second will be played next Sunday afternoon at Cosmos.

Ohio State Is Now Within One Game of Title

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—With the western conference football championship drawing to a close, the undefeated Ohio State eleven tonight is within one game of the title. Illinois, victorious in five of its six games, was the only team left for the Ohioans to vanquish.

These teams, perhaps the most evenly matched teams in the "big ten," will clash at Columbus next Saturday for the championship.

Sanger Lad Injured in Game at School

SANGER, Nov. 16.—On Friday afternoon Lewis Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Truer of Jensen avenue, was hurt at the grammar school in a game of "Blackman," and is suffering from a broken collar bone and a badly wrenched shoulder. He is doing as well as could be expected under such a painful experience.

LEGAL NOTICES

BEFORE THE IRRIGATION BOARD OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

In the Matter of the Formation of the WESTERN IRRIGATION DISTRICT.

Notice of Time and Place of Hearing Petition for the Formation of an Irrigation District.

A petition, entitled as above, for the formation of an irrigation district to be known as the Western Irrigation District, having been filed heretofore with the Irrigation Board of the State of California, and the said board by its order duly made and entered herein having designated the 26th day of November, 1919, at the hour of 10 a. m., at the court room of the Superior Court in the court house, in the City of Madera, State of California, as the time and place for the hearing of said petition;

Notice is hereby given that the said petition will be heard by the said Irrigation Board on the said 26th day of November, 1919, at the hour of 10 a. m., at the said court-room of the Superior Court in the court house, in the City of Madera, State of California, at which time and place any person owning land within the said proposed district may appear and present written objections to the creation of such district;

Score Strike Action of Bay Supervisors

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—A resolution condemning the action of the San Francisco board of supervisors in endorsing the nationwide coal strike by official vote was presented to representatives of twenty-one business organizations for their ratification here today. It was planned to have representatives of these organizations present at the supervisors' meeting on Monday, when the strike endorsement resolution will come up again under a reconsideration motion.

Among the organizations to whom the resolution was presented were the San Francisco Real Estate Board, Chamber of Commerce, Commonwealth Club, Advertising Club, American Legion, Rotary Club, Downtown Association, Lafayette Club, and a number of trade organizations.

Bay Drydock Head Opposes Union Heads

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 15.—C. W. Wiley, president of the Todd Dry Dock and Construction Company, today issued from San Francisco an ultimatum to the 5,600 striking employes.

Mr. Wiley declined to leave the matter of an eight-cent an hour wage increase to arbitration and declared the yards here will remain closed until all outside interference of union leaders is eliminated in Tacoma and until radical trouble makers at the plant are discharged.

Find Woman's Body Hanging From Rafter

GRASS VALLEY, Calif., Nov. 15.—The body of Mrs. Louise Margaret Jones, 51, wife of J. Jones of Asomas, Monterey county, was found late last evening hanging from a rafter in the basement of the home of Albert Parker, her brother. Mrs. Jones came here two weeks ago on a visit.

Brunswick Bowlers Defeat Bakersfield

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 15.—The Brunswick team of bowlers defeated the team from Bakersfield on local alleys last evening by a score of 2742 to 2691. The contest was an exciting one throughout. The score was in doubt until the last round when "Slim" White for Porterville set a new record for the local alleys by finishing with a run of ten straight strikes and won the contest.

Prisoner Escapes in Box of Shirts

RAWLINS, Wyo., Nov. 15.—W. W. Carlisle, notorious bandit, who was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1916 for robbery of three Union Pacific passenger trains, today escaped from the state prison here hidden in a box of shirts shipped from the prison shirt factory. Posses are searching for him.

Equip Planes With New Radio Device

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Wireless equipment which will overcome all difficulties imposed on mail airplanes by fog and other unfavorable weather conditions is being installed on new planes and at landing fields in College Park, Md., and Bellefonte, Pa., according to a statement issued yesterday by Otto Praeger, assistant postmaster general.

A field marking radio device enables a pilot to steer exactly for the center of his landing field, although it may be obscured by fog, clouds, rain or snow.

Other devices are a non-magnetic compass that will overcome the unreliability of the ordinary compass and a self-clearing spark plug for the Liberty motor.

Hindenburg Wants No Demonstration

BERLIN, Nov. 16.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, through the press, has requested that the public refrain from further demonstration in his honor.

NOGALES, Ariz., Nov. 16.—Heavy losses in men and mounts have been suffered by the Yaqui Indians in two days severe fighting with Mexican federal troops near San Javier and Sayopa, Sonora.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed proposals, addressed to the Board of Supervisors of the County of Fresno, State of California, and endorsed "Proposals for Improving County Highway Route 11, Section A," will be received by the said Board at its office, in the Court House, until 2 o'clock p. m., on the 24th day of November, 1919, and at that time and place will be publicly opened and read.

All proposals must be made upon blank forms to be obtained from the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, or at the office of the County Surveyor, in the Cory Building, Fresno; said proposals must give the prices proposed, both in writing and figures, and must be signed by the bidder, with his address.

Each bid is to be presented under sealed cover and shall be accompanied by a certified check made payable to the County of Fresno, for an amount equal to, or in excess of ten per cent of the amount of said bid, and no bid shall be considered unless such check is enclosed therewith. Should the successful bidder to whom the contract is awarded fail to execute the same, such check shall be forfeited to the County of Fresno, and the same shall be the property of said County. All other certified checks will be returned to the unsuccessful bidders who submitted the same.

A common-law bond will be required for the faithful performance of the contract in such sum as shall be fixed by the Board of Supervisors of the County, after the bids are opened; said sum shall not be less than one-fourth and not more than one-half of the estimated total amount of the contract; and a further bond in a sum equal to one-half of the estimated total amount of the contract must be furnished as required by the terms of an act entitled, "An act to secure the payment of the claims of the materialmen, mechanics, or laborers employed by contractors upon state, municipal and other public works," approved March 27, 1897, and acts amendatory thereof.

The contractor to whom the contract may be awarded will be required to appear at the office of the Board of Supervisors, with the sureties or surety offered by him, and execute the contract, within ten days (not including Sunday) from the date of his notification of such award. In case of failure or neglect so to do he will be considered as having abandoned it, and said forfeiture of said check will operate.

Bidders must satisfy themselves as to the accuracy of the plans, profiles, cross-sections, estimates, and all other matters which may influence the prices set forth in their proposals.

The bidder in making his bid, shall not include in his bid any sum to cover royalties on patents of any processes or materials prescribed in the specifications of work and materials for which his bid is made. The County of Fresno will assume all such royalties or other charges connected therewith.

Bidders must state clearly the time required for the completion of the proposed work.

All bids are to be compared on the basis of the County Surveyor's estimate of the quantities of work to be done, as follows:

Item 1. 21550 cubic yards of earthwork without classification.
Item 2. 16670 cubic yards of Portland cement concrete base.
Item 3. ——— square feet of asphalt wearing surface, Type A.
Item 4. ——— square feet of asphalt wearing surface, Type B.
Item 5. ——— square feet of asphalt concrete pavement.
Item 6. ——— square feet of bituminous macadam.
Item 7. Total of 14 culverts.
Item 8. Total of 32 linear feet of railing.

The foregoing quantities are approximate only, being given as a basis for the comparison of bids, and the County Surveyor does not expressly or by implication agree that the actual amount of work will correspond therewith, but reserves the right to increase or decrease the amount of any class or portion of the work, as may be deemed necessary or expedient by the said Board.

Plans, profiles and cross-sections, may be examined, and blank forms of specifications and contracts may be obtained at the office of the County Surveyor, Cory Building, Fresno.

Should copies of any maps, plans, profiles, or cross-sections be desired, they will be furnished at the actual cost of blueprinting.

The right is reserved to reject any and all proposals, or to accept the proposals deemed best for the County of Fresno.

It is understood that the contract will be awarded as a whole.

IN TULARE COUNTY

Near Giffen's Calloson Fruit Farms.

Muscat and Thompson Soil.

Deep, Rich, Soft, Level

Lands have begun to boom in Tulare county. Fresno county vineyardists and orchardists are here buying fast.

Wylie M. Giffen has begun the subdivision of the Calloson Fruit Farms, and many Fresno county men are sure to buy and develop to vines and trees on his recommendation.

I still have some 40, 80 and 160-acre tracts at Pre-War Prices. If bought Right Now, but in 15 days these tracts will sell so sold, so don't delay.

These lands are 100 per cent perfect vine and deciduous fruit tree land. Fresno county vineyard experts have pronounced them to be the best grade of raisin soil and state that the bare land would sell for $375 an acre if located near Fresno, Reedley, Dinuba, Parlier or in any of the Fresno county vineyard districts. The soil is a fine silty loam, free from debris and level as a floor; abundant water for irrigation is obtained with a shallow lift; located near town, railroad and paved highway.

$125 An acre; terms.

THESE CAN'T BE BETTERED AND THEY ARE HARD TO DUPLICATE.

320 acres, all in bearing vineyard, production this year approximately $50,000. I will sell this on exceptional terms to responsible parties, with value of this year's crop as first payment, interest 6 per cent and can be paid from 50 per cent of crops produced. The soil is black silt and capable of producing 500 to 800 tons of raisins annually.

280 acres, more or less all improved and producing, except 30 acres; 1919 income $35,000; all of the fruit is standard and the soil is of white ash nature. Will sell this on reasonable cash payment and terms to suit the individual. Both of the properties are centered and in a going condition. Call at my home, 227 [illegible] avenue, and we can arrange details. The properties both show for themselves.

LAND OPENING IN TIERRA DE UVA
SUBDIVISION OF C. W. HART RANCH

Located [illegible] southeast of Visalia and within three miles of Exeter, is the well-known Hart Ranch. This land has been known [illegible] the world [illegible] many as one of the choicest and most productive in Tulare county. Especially adapted to grapes, [illegible], figs, peaches and olives, as evidenced by surrounding orchards and vineyards. The estate was only recently divided and we secured some 600 acres of the choicest part of the estate and are now subdividing it [illegible] and 20 acre tracts and offering it on long time payments at the special low price of $[illegible] acre, only 10 per cent down. Abundant water supplies this land with easy lift. No alkali, Johnson grass, or any kind of noxious weeds. Nothing but good soil and plenty of water.

This land is now being purchased by Visalia boys, business men and others who have been familiar with conditions on this ranch and surrounding [illegible] for years.

Land shown any day. Phone or long distance, our expense, for appointment if necessary.

160 ACRES in Tulare Colony, [illegible] Fresno. If you are in the market for land see C. J. Crawford, 307 Trust Co. Bldg. Phone 3566.

FOR SALE—At the very edge of town, forty acres at Tulare; house, barn, sheds, windmill and tank, water piped to house and to troughs at 5 box fields; fenced and cross-fenced; entire place irrigable from electric plant; shade trees and home orchard and vineyard; owner lives in town, and accumulating demands on his time and energies make it impossible for him to further develop this property. I bought it years ago when land was cheap and will sell (for the sake of a reasonably prompt disposition) for less than similar places, no better, are selling for five and ten miles farther from town. There is some alkali on the place, but none of the rank, unreclaimable type. Every foot will produce alfalfa. I don't want to get anyone interested who doesn't understand the practical features of farming in the San Joaquin valley. And I don't want to discourage anyone by mentioning the alkali. The place will tell its own story. It's a splendid opportunity for the right man. Address, Owner, P. O. Box 165, Tulare, California.

RAW LAND.

Good raw land, more particularly for Thompson vine-bearing, is not as plentiful as might be supposed. Prices of land are advancing, yet today land is cheaper in Fresno county than any portion of the San Joaquin Valley.

We are exclusive agents for 1000 acres of good raw land in the most famous Thompson belt in and near the Biola-Vineland District, and we still offer this land with first water right for $150 per acre on very easy terms. Improve it or not [illegible] make a handsome profit. We say buy the land now.

PAINTERS ISSUE PAY INCREASE STATEMENT

Declare Raise to $8.50 Approved by Master Painters

Nothing to Aribtrate with Association Is Ultimatum

Declaring that the agreement authorizing a raise in wages of $1 or to $8.50 a day for painters had been agreed to by the painting contractors and master painters before the inception of the Building Industries Association, and that therefore that body had nothing to arbitrate with the painters local, the executive board of the local issued a statement yesterday giving their views on the painters' strike controversy.

According to the members of the body, there are only about 50 painters belonging to the local now out of work and these men are employed by the general contractors who are members fo the Building Industries Association. The time cards of others, over 100, who are employed by the painting contractors and master painters of the city, were exhibited by the members of the executive board, showing that they have been working for the $8.50 scale. The board further states that they had agreed to reimburse all master painters and painting contractors who had contracts for painting taken under the old scale of $7.50 a day and that this was now being paid by the painters local.

According to the members of the board, the raise of $1 was approved by the Building Trades Council as there had been no opposition by the painting contractors and master painters as reported by the painters local when they announced the raise to take effect on November 1. They maintained that there was now only opposition by the Building Industries Association which was not organized at the time that the raise was voted and also that only 25 per cent of the painters are employed by members of that organization, these being the men who are reported now as not working.

At the meeting of the Building Industries Association held Saturday afternoon, it was decided that a concerted effort be made by the members of the association toward making the painting contractors and contract painters come into line on the $8 schedule with arbitration on the $8.50 wage retroative from November 1. The members of the board stated yesterday that they were ready to stand by their decision.

Following is their statement as issued yesterday for publication:

In reference to an article appearing in the Fresno Republican, Sunday morning, November 16, in reference to the Painters' Union No. 291 stand as to the increase of wages from $7.50 to $8.50 per day, the undersigned executive board of the local desire to make the following statement:

The reason for not submitting this wage schedule to an arbitration board as suggested by the Building Industries Association are: that an agreement was reached with the master and contract painters who employ over 75 per cent of our members that they would grant an increase in wages fom $7.50 to $8.50 per day, the proposition being submitted to the Building Trades council which body gave their indorsement on the grounds that the contracting and master painters had agreed to that scale. This agreement was reached and the scale became effective before the institution of the Building Industries Association, the consequence being that the painters union had nothing to arbitrate with the association. The scale was not instigated by members commonly known as "floaters" but by men who have been residents for several years. At the present time there are over 75 per cent of the members of the union employed by contracting and master painters, and the 25 per cent who are idle at the present time have been employed by the general contractors. The painters' union has and are now protecting painting contractors and master painters and general contractors who have complied with the union and contracted prior to October 6 by paying to the contractors the difference between $7.50 and $8.50 per day. This will entail no loss on contractors and owners who have had work under contract previous to that date.

(Signed)
EXECUTIVE BOARD,
Painters' Union.

SAYS AMERICA IS FIGHTING FOR DRY WORLD

Dr. A. H. Briggs Speaks on Prohibition to Fresno Audience

To Raise $50,000,000 to Destroy Liquor Business Abroad

Declaring that a dry America means a dry world, and that the war torn nations are looking to the United States to lead the van in the moral reconstruction of the world, Dr. Arthur H. Briggs of the Anti-Saloon League claimed that in a few years this aim will be accomplished, in an address at the morning service in the First Presbyterian church.

The address of Dr. Briggs was part of the campaign of the Anti-Saloon League throughout the country in the interest of prohibition. Another speaker in Fresno yesterday was Horace J. Knott, superintendent of field work of the California Anti-Saloon League, who spoke at the Westminster Presbyterian church. Both speakers placed the case for world-wide prohibition before their audiences with much force.

That the very fact of America going dry will compel the rest of the world to follow, if not from moral grounds, then from the more material grounds of economics, was the conclusion of Dr. Briggs.

Dry America, Dry World.

"A dry America means a dry world," Dr. Briggs said. "When Colonel House came back from Europe he gave an interview in which he said that while England did not like prohibition in America she was concerned greatly in the question, because England believed that if America goes dry England will have to go dry too, for the reason that a wet England cannot compete with a dry American.

"Instead of being now a question of states the liquor problem is now one of nations, and the countries of the world are lining up. The nations are seriously considering the drink menace, and with America in the van, and Norway next, Scotland following, and the British colonies joining in, other countries will be compelled to adopt prohibitionary measures.

Japan Considering.

"The same logic of economic necessity for dealing with the liquor business is appearing in the orient. Dr. Gandier is now in Japan telling the people the reasons why America went dry, that is about all he is doing, and the Japanese are listening and are asking if those reasons also apply to Japan. They are saying 'We are short of rice, and our rice is going into saki. We are short of efficiency, and drinking among our people is responsible for that shortage. We are out for commercial supremacy in the Pacific, and our big rival, America, has now taken advantage of prohibition, and we cannot compete commercially with dry America.'

"Go to England and Japan and talk of the morals involved, and you will not get a hearing, but when you talk of economics, they like every other nation in the world will sit up and take notice. If America gives the example of a great nation adopting prohibition, the world reasons that commercial competition will compel every other nation to fall into line.

Cause of Missions.

"Further, there is in the plea for a dry America all the appeal of the cause of foreign missions. A sober world means a Christian world. Christian churches are spending millions of dollars on missions, while the liquor mercenaries are putting out with their barrels, the gospel fires faster than the Christian missionary with his bible can light them.

"The liquor traffic is very much distributed but America adopt the program of a dry world. That is exactly America's program. It is said that the Anti-saloon League is raising $50,000,000 in the next five years to be spent in making a dry world. A dry world will be cheap at that price. England and Scotland the moral backbone of the world are seeing the harm done by the war, but the moral ruin wrought. As a result of the war England has lost her faith. They tell us that there will be no more young men come over from England and Scotland, the best we have received, for the reason that there are no young men to come, and the liquor traffic is taking advantage of the situation. Englishmen will tell you that their only hope is from the United States.

"We were not in the war long enough. We did not lose our faith, the United States is the only country that can speak to England, and their hope is in us.

"But we have still much to do in the United States. There are three things before the country before prohibition is completed.

Support National Amendment.

"First, pass the Harris law which is designed to make national prohibition effective in California on January 16, 1920. This bill was refered to the people to be voted on in November, 1920. The issues then will be whether or not California is loyal to the United States constitution, and whether California is law keeping or law defying.

Destroy Trade.

"Second, we must meet and answer the question whether we will allow the outlawed curse to go abroad under the protection of the Stars and Stripes. American capital is engaged in the liquor traffic in Mexico, and Governor Cantu is protesting against it. Just over the border there are great flash lights inviting Americans to come over from their dry territory to have a good time in Mexico. America must face the question whether, having abolished the liquor traffic at home she will encourage any American to engage in the liquor traffic anywhere.

"Finally, in every blow struck against the liquor traffic in any part of the world there must be the mark of America's power."

DEL REY WOMAN DIES DAY FOLLOWING SON

Mrs. Hattie Bushneff, Old Resident, Dies Sunday Morning

Friends will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Hattie Bushneff, who died yesterday morning at 11:30 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emma Scott, at Del Rey. Death followed an attack of fever.

The death of Mrs. Bushneff, who was 67 years old, followed the death of a son in Oshkosh, Wisconsin, by less than twenty-four hours. The son died Saturday afternoon.

The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock this morning from the residence, with interment at Del Rey. Services will be conducted by Rev. Livonia of the Methodist church.

CHURCH TEAMS OPEN SERVICES

San Joaquin Presbytery Leaders Explain New Movement

For the purpose of bringing to the Presbyterian church in the San Joaquin valley more definite understanding of the aims and methods of the New Era movement of the church two teams composed of leaders in the church started on a week's tour of the valley churches yesterday.

By visiting the church scattered throughout the valley it is stated that clearer explanations of the purposes of the movement may be made, and a more adequate adaptation of the aims to the local needs of the churches may be attained.

Team No. 1 began its work at Bakersfield and Taft, and will proceed to Strathmore, Terra Della and Prarie Center today. Team No. 2 opened at Newman, Patterson, Crows Landing and Gustine yesterday, and will conduct services in Stockton and Tracy churches today.

New Era Program.

The conference program is as follows:

3:30-4:30—How Women's Work Functions with the Movement in the Local Church.
4:30-5:00—Religious Education.
5:00-5:30—Social Service.
5:30-6:00—Publicity.
6:00-6:30—Boards and Agencies.
6:30-7:30—Supper (Goals and Objectives.)
7:30-8:10—Spiritual Resources.
8:10-8:50—Mobilization.
8:50-9:30—Stewardship.

The following is the outline of the towns to be visited by the conference and the days on which the leaders will arrive:

M'LANE TALKS ON CITY MANAGEMENT

Fresno Chapter Engineers Hear Interesting Address

Interest of the members of the Fresno chapter of the American Association of Engineers in the activities of the organization during the winter is bringing out constantly increasing numbers to the meetings of the organization. The next session of the association will be held on December 13, it was announced yesterday.

The chapter held an interesting meeting at a dinner at the Hughes hotel Saturday evening, at which members heard an able address on the city manager form of government by Prof. C. L. McLane of the State Normal School.

Professor McLane pointed out to the engineers the desirable points of the city management form of government. He explained that the city manager is not elected directly by the people for the reason that the public in general is not qualified to select a public official whose service requires particular qualifications this being best done by the council which is elected by the people.

To the engineers present, the qualifications peculiar to the office of city manager were very interesting as it was stated that he should be an engineer or superintendent of any large business, experienced in construction and contracting and used to directing men of all classes. It was also mentioned that the head of the department of public works should be an engineer. One position advanced by the speaker was that this form of city government removes it from politics.

Following Prof. McLane's address, Mr. Bowers, Pacific Coast representative for the McGraw-Hill Engineering Publications, spoke briefly on the possibilities of the association.

One incident for which the association feels to some extent responsible, is the appointment by the governor of Charles H. Lee, a Los Angeles engineer, to the State Water Commission. The various engineering societies of the state including the Fresno A. A. E. were active in asking that consideration be given to the appointment of a competent engineer to the commission, the work of which deals primarily with engineering problems.
